WHOLESALE PRICE INDEX FOR JAN TOUCHES 2.03%

An uptick in demand for manufactured items after resumption in economic activities in September last pushing prices up, say data

MANUFACTURED ITEMS INFLATION AT 5.13%

Inflation in manufactured items, accounting for 65% weight in WPI, stood at 5.13% compared to 4.24% in Dec. This grouping comprises 22 bands, of which 18 like furniture, motor vehicles, machinery saw prices rising. Data show prices of food items dropped in Jan at (-) 2.8% while prices of non-food articles rose by 4.16%. Together, they account for 20% weight in WPI

ANALYSTS EXPECT BIG WPI JUMP IN FY21

- Fuel and power index (15% weight) contracted 4.78% in January
- Analysts say a deeper disinflation in primary food articles helped cushion the impact of the sharp rise in core inflation, but warned headline WPI inflation will record large upticks over the course of the next few months and hover around 5-5.5 per cent in FY2021

Covid -ve report must for those coming to Bengaluru from Kerala

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THOSE coming in to Bengaluru from Kerala should carry a negative Covid-19 RTPCR test report, without which action will be taken against them under the Disaster Management Act, warned BBMP Commissioner N Manjunatha Prasad here on Monday.

Asking BBMP marshals to tighten their vigil, he directed all BBMP officials to work closely with resident welfare associations (RWAs) to manage Covid cases. He requested RWAs to keep a close watch on Covid cases and to report them to the authorities at the earliest.

"Aggressive testing needs to start again as cases are rising. At least 141 centres and 200 teams have been created, including the 341 testing teams that already exist. Testing will be increased to at least 34,000 a day, which is now at 20,000-22,000. Whoever tests positive will be isolated or shifted to health centres as need be and contact tracing will also be strengthened," he said after holding a meeting with all officials from BBMP's health division and special commissioners.

The meeting was held after 40 students in Manjushri College and 56 people in an apartment complex in Bommanahalli zone were tested positive.

He said that a meeting will be held with RWAs soon and more precautionary measures will be taken.

On the vaccination drive, he said that of the identified 2.43 lakh frontline workers, 93,000 have been inoculated. He appealed to those who have not taken the jab to do so before February 25. The second dosage of vaccines for those who have already taken the first jab will be held in March. He directed officials to start preparing the list of beneficiaries for the third phase of the vaccination drive.

ALL-ROUND APPLAUSE FOR ASHWIN

BAD START

On a pitch that came under criticism after England were bowled out for 134 in the first innings, India wanted to make a statement by batting long enough on Day 3. However, they ended up losing five wickets inside the first session

KOHLI-TY KNOCK

With Jack Leach and Moeen Ali finding enough purchase off the pitch, batting was by no means easy. Batsmen found it hard to negotiate the turn and bounce. But Virat Kohli displayed quality by playing late and stretching forward in order to defend

ASHWIN'S DAY OUT

The moment he walked in to bat, Ashwin meant business. He swept the spinners, used his feet against them and scored briskly. After scoring fifty, he quietly went about building the innings in the company of the tail. He scored 106 off 148 balls

STARING AT THE INEVITABLE

England need a miracle in the remaining two days to get something out of the contest. Chasing 482 for victory, the visitors were reeling at 53/3 in the second innings, needing 429 more runs for an improbable win | P19

AFTER DISHA, TOOLKIT HEAT ON TWO MORE ACTIVISTS

Police claim Nikita and Disha edited document created by Shantanu

GAYATHRI MANI AND SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI
@ New Delhi/Mumbai

EVEN as the arrest of Bengaluru student-activist Disha Ravi in connection with Greta Thunberg toolkit case has sparked an outrage, Delhi Police are searching for two other persons, Mumbai-based lawyer Nikita Jacob and environment activist Shantanu Muluk, against whom non-bailable warrants have been obtained. The two moved Bombay High Court for transit anticipatory bail on Monday, a day after a Delhi court remanded Disha in five-day police custody. Jacob and Muluk, who is based in Delhi but hails from Maharashtra, have been identified by the Delhi Police as creators of the 'toolkit' document, along with Disha.

According to the police, both Jacob and Muluk are absconding. However, in her plea filed in the Bombay High Court, Jacob expressed apprehension that she may be arrested "due to political vendetta and a media trial" and sought transit anticipatory bail for four weeks. She also sought interim protection from any coercive steps by the police. Muluk filed a plea seeking similar relief in the Aurangabad bench of the Bombay High Court.

According to Delhi's Joint Commissioner of Police (Cyber Cell) Prem Nath, initial investigation revealed that Muluk's e-mail account was the owner of the toolkit that was uploaded and later deleted by Swedish climate activist Greta Thunberg, while the others were its editors.

All three — Disha, Muluk and Jacob — have been booked for sedition, creating disharmony and ill-will against the Government of India. Briefing the media, the JCP said a Canada-based woman named Puneet connects all the accused with "pro-Khalistan" Poetic Justice Foundation' (PJF). The police said that on January 11, Jacob and Muluk attended a Zoom meeting organised by PJF in which the modalities of the protests were worked out. The toolkit was created based on that discussion. Disha later shared the toolkit with Greta Thunberg over Telegram messenger.

An enthusiastic protester

A vocal feminist, a vegan, an animal lover, a climate activist and an inspiring individual, 21-year-old Disha Ravi, who has been arrested by the Delhi Police, wants to create a world where everyone is treated equally, say her friends. Coming from a family with a history of farming, the farmer protests in Delhi hit home for her. She only wished to help farmers get their voices heard and could not have had any ulterior motives whatsoever, says one of her close friends. Most of the climate activists in Bengaluru know her as she organised and took part in every protest, her friends said. P4

Toolkit has ISI link: Cops

Delhi Police on Monday said that Disha and lawyer activist Nikita Jacob were the editors of the first Toolkit Google document, which was "accidentally" tweeted by Greta Thunberg. The email account allegedly created by another activist, Shantanu, is the owner of this document, they said. The toolkit, allegedly put together by the trio on the instructions of pro-Khalistani group Poetic Justice Foundation, mentioned Peter Friedrich, an alleged close associate of Bhajan Singh (BS) Bhinder alias Iqbal Chowdhary and proponent of Pakistan's ISI Kashmir Khalistan (K2) desk. P4

SC gives Kappan 5-day bail

THE Supreme Court on Monday laid down a set of conditions while granting a 5-day interim bail to journalist Siddique Kappan to meet his ailing mother (90). A bench headed by the CJI ordered him not to give any interview to any media platform. He was told only to meet his relatives and doctors. The conditions were set after the solicitor general argued he might use the bail period to get support. Kappan was arrested in October while going to Hathras to report on the alleged gang-rape and death of a Dalit woman. ENS

Disha arrest: Guha says it's dictatorship in country

Over 100 protesters demand immediate release of climate activist

RELEASE

COMES

Historian Ramchandra Guha protests against climate actvist Disha Ravi's arrest in Bengaluru on Monday | VINOD KUMAR T

OVER a hundred protesters, including well-known historian Ramachandra Guha, on Monday, gathered near Mysuru Bank Circle and condemned the arrest of 21-year-old climate activist Disha Ravi, demanding her release immediately.

Guha said, "The situation that prevailed when I was a student has come back. Even (Atal Bihari) Vajpayee had said that documents should be countered only with documents. Violence is not the solution. There is a dictatorship in the country."

The protesters shouted slogans against the Central BJP government and its 'fascist' attitude, even as they carried placards that read, "Standing for farmers is not sedition", "Hands off our forest, Hands off our activists", "Repeal UAPA, Repeal NSA", "Protest against undeclared emergency", "By crushing individuals, they cannot kill ideas", "Arresting Disha Ravi is an act of cowardice, Shame on Delhi police", and more.

Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha president Badagalapura Nagendra, who also supported the protest, said that Disha's arrest is a Central Government ploy to project patriots as traitors. "Even during the Emergency, there was no such repression. Democracy is being strangulated by the day, and those who speak against injustice are being silenced. They have called farmers as terrorists. The Modi government's fascist attitude has reached the peak and I believe that people will end this soon. A government, which believes that the assassination of Mahatma Gandhi is right, can go to any extent," he said, adding that more the government tries to silence people, more the people will speak against it.

Vinay Sreenivasa, an advocate, alleged that the Delhi police had not followed any legal procedures while arresting Disha. "We need the proof of correspondence between Delhi Police and Bengaluru police. The state government should take action against Delhi Police for making the illegal arrest. It's our duty to stand with Disha as democracy is in danger. A Haryana minister has said that people like Disha Ravi should be killed," he charged.

A few agitators submitted a petition to Police Commissioner Kamal Pant, requesting him to provide proof of correspondence by the Delhi Police before Disha's arrest. Congress MLA Sowmya Reddy too was part of the protest, while members of AAP held a separate candlelight march demanding her release.

Members of Campaign Against Hate Speech submitted a petition to the Police Commissioner seeking an FIR against Haryana Minister Anil Vij for tweeting that people like Disha should be killed.

Single-window system to issue disability certificate

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA
@Bengaluru

VISUALLY-challenged students writing their SSLC examinations may heave a sigh of relief soon as the government plans to roll out a single-window system for disability certificates. A top official told TNIE that the measures that were rolled out in Dakshina Kannada for 374 students were appreciated and plans were on to emulate it for the state.

A two-day medical screening camp was organised by the Department of Public Instruction for differently abled students who are appearing for SSLC examination for the academic year 2020-21 in Dakshina Kannada.

The camp was to ensure disability certificates were given to these students under one roof. "The certificate is crucial if one is to avail the facilities of a scribe," said the official.

Organised in association with Wenlock Hospital and the District Health and Family Welfare Department, the camp in Dakshina Kannada tasted success. All that the students had to do was submit two passport size photos, original Aadhaar card, physical handicap/differently abled identity card/UDID copy and certificate from the concerned Head Master (Student Achievement Tracking System No. should be mentioned).

They were screened at the precincts of the ZP office and the process of certification was completed in hours.

DEPUTY CM SEEKS BIGGER GRANT FOR EDUCATION

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

REQUESTING Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa to allocate 3.5 per cent of the total budget for education, Deputy Chief Minister C N Ashwath Narayan on Monday said the department had received a smaller grant for the ongoing academic year. He was speaking after reviewing the higher education progress report.

Narayan said the budget allocation for 2020-21 was ₹4,687 crore, of which 88 per cent (₹3,998 crore) went towards payment of salaries alone. The remaining 12 per cent (₹595 crore) was used for developmental works, he added. "Hence, we have asked the CM for a higher grant."

Narayan, who is also higher education minister, said in keeping with the objectives of quality learning, teaching and research of the National Education Policy, qualitative degree colleges will be established in all 28 assembly constituencies in Bengaluru.

"Bengaluru is growing exponentially, and its population has touched 1.5 crore. To effectively provide quality education, there is a need to establish a college in each constituency," he said.

Prior to the meeting, the DyCM spoke to Bengaluru Urban DC Manjunath, and sought available land in Bengaluru to establish qualitative colleges. A meeting of MLAs will be called soon in Bengaluru, and land requirements discussed with them, he added.

Narayan said an appeal was given to CM Yediyurappa to sanction filling of existing posts, and also sanction 8,000 new posts. He appealed to Yediyurappa for appointments to meet a shortage of teaching staff for degree colleges in the state.

Narayan said that 172 acres had been earmarked in Jangamakote, which falls under Sidlaghatta taluk of Chikkaballapura district, to Bengaluru North University. Of these, 57 acres have been handed over, 62 acres are in government possession and will be transferred after technical issues are rectified, and 53 acres are with private individuals. They have demanded alternative sites, and Narayan said the process will be taken up immediately.

Jangammakote will be made a knowledge city, especially as it is close to KIAL. A state-of-the-art campus will also be established, he said.

'Will speed up B'luru suburban railway project'

ENS @Shivamogga

RAILWAY Minister Piyush Goyal said the Bengaluru suburban railway project will be sped up. The minister was speaking after virtually launching works for three ROBs in Shivamogga and Bhadravathi on Monday.

He said Prime Minister Narendra Modi has asked him to work in coordination with other stakeholders to ensure the speedy execution of the suburban railway project which will transform Bengaluru and help expand economic activity. "Bengaluru provides employment to lakhs of people and deserves better transport facilities. Under the leadership of Yediyurappa, people of Bengaluru will see the project taking shape and it will be implemented in a mission mode," he said.

Goyal claimed that on an average, ₹1,000 crore was being invested in Karnataka before 2014. "However, in the current budget 2021-22, the funds allocated for Karnataka is nearly ₹4,000 crore, which is 400% growth in 7 years," he added.

FOOTPATH NEAR METRO STATION 'MISSING', NIGHTMARE FOR PEDESTRIANS

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

METRO commuters and local residents, who use the footpath on Swami Vivekananda Road just outside Halasuru Metro Station, are having a nightmarish time. Dug a few weeks ago by BBMP to clean the drains and to elevate the height of the existing footpaths, the work ground to a halt in the last week.

Eateries and small shops along the stretch towards Indiranagar have put up their wares on the footpath. The management of Oyo Townhouse, a lodge, has taken the encroachment to another level. They have kept flower pots on the flight of stairs at the entrance up to the footpath and also placed huge stones in front of the building. Their customers' vehicles also take up space on the footpath.

A dug-up footpath outside Halasuru Metro station

Sheela Neelakanth, who is pregnant, heading from Halasuru to Vijaynagar Metro Station, said, "If the government wants to improve the footpath, some alternative arrangement should have been done. We are forced to walk on the roads in traffic, endangering our lives."

Lloyd Michael, employed at a courier firm off the main road, alleged, "The cops just look the other way even though vendors take up space on footpaths."

Owners of shops in the vicinity are quite upset. "We are trying to recover from the losses the pandemic caused. If BBMP digs in front of my shop and leave it unattended for days, no customer will come in. We do not know whom to approach for help," said a medical shop owner.

K Naseem of Best Watch Service operating here for decades said, "This is a packed residential area. People are forced to walk on the roads risking their lives." Akash Gupta, who is in a senior position at Townhouse, conceded that the property did not have a dedicated parking space but claimed the space on the road being used belonged to them.

BBMP Commissioner N Manjunatha Prasad said, "I will ensure work is completed at once and all encroachments are removed." Asked if anything could be done to ease the woes of Metro commuters, BMRCL CPRO B L Yashavanth Chavan said the footpaths outside the station were BBMP's responsibility. The Mayor could not be reached for comments.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

16th February : I've always felt that the universe is teeming with life. Professor Chandra Wickramsinghe, who worked at Cardiff University in Wales, has long been a strong proponent of this point of view. Now we have discovered that the dust that we find throughout the solar system may be organic. Which means that life on other planets could be far more likely than we thought.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Mercury, planet of contracts and firm agreements sees to it that business discussions are well aspected, so clear up outstanding matters. This is a peaceful day, enabling you to spend time on yourself. Keep personal affairs under close scrutiny, though, for you will soon be assured that a financial plan should pay off.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You must now move fast to exploit your advantages. This is a time for new beginnings, which means, of course, that you must be prepared to let go of the past and break the habits of a lifetime. This may not be easy, but then there is always a price to be paid for success.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Beneficial planetary influences continue. You should be at your most spontaneous and creative at the present time, and there are plenty of opportunities for you to shape circumstances to your liking. You may share your secrets with a friend if you think this will help.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Versatile conditions give you the chance to branch out into new avenues. Friends are likely to offer help quite soon, and when they do, you should accept it gracefully. It will do your morale good to realise you're no longer alone. Your deeper questions may not be answered for another three or four days, so be patient.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Now that the Moon is so powerful we are unable to forecast that leisurely conditions will prevail. However, that's mainly because you're hovering on the edge of one of your intense moods. Mind you, friendly meetings are likely and work is liable to be more relaxed than usual. There might also be an unexpected opportunity to make your mark professionally.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Although not everything is going your way, life does take on a more colourful quality and, if you wish, you may fall in with dramatic events. Otherwise you will have to concentrate on getting work done in preparation for meetings later in the week.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Partners' expectations could be high, so look forward to a busy day, with unexpected developments to keep you occupied. Conserve your energy early on, as the build-up of pressure could be quite stressful. Plus, keep a watchful eye on financial developments.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Awkward planetary aspects today suggest an uncertain patch in relationships. Counter the celestial energies by making a mighty effort to see other people's points of view and reach agreement where possible. You will feel much more certain of yourself in three days' time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You are now aware that curious activities behind the scenes mean that you must remain alert. Early morning brings the chance of a misunderstanding between friends. Has someone broken a promise? A partner poses difficult questions, but you'll have a ready answer.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Social complications are likely, perhaps due to financial difficulties. Problems which may seem insuperable this morning will sort themselves out by this evening - with a little help from the right quarter. Keep an eye on travel plans, otherwise you'll forget essential details in the midst of your excitement.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Career-wise, you may strike a stressful note, yet inevitably your professional cares are intimately connected to domestic woes. Get to grips with the underlying issues and stop feeling sorry for yourself. There is more going for you at home than you imagine, so give relations and partners their due.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Intriguing meetings are likely, particularly if creative openings are on the horizon. Make sure that your case is thoroughly prepared, and that nobody has the chance to get the better of you. Don't be afraid to share radical proposals with people who may, to your surprise, agree with you!

After party, 56 test positive in city apartment

Complex in Bilekahalli sealed; 1,000 residents tested so far asymptomatic

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A party held in an apartment complex at Bilekahalli, Bommanahalli zone, resulted in a cluster of Covid cases with at least 56 residents testing positive on Monday.

This is the second such incident in the city in the past three days.

Recently, 40 students from a nursing college in R T Nagar tested positive and just before that, over 40 students from Mangaluru had tested positive.

BBMP officials revealed that a party was held in the apartment complex on February 6. The apartment has three residential blocks with 435 flats and 1,500 people staying in them.

Bommanahalli Joint Commissioner M Ramkrishna said, "We got the first case on February 7 followed by another case the next day. These two people reported symptoms of fever and cold, which is why they got themselves tested and then others came forward too. The apartment has been sealed."

He added, "So far, we have tested over 1,000 residents and another 500 will be tested on Tuesday. We are also tracing and identifying their contacts."

A BBMP health inspector of Bommanahalli zone said the residents are asymptomatic and have been isolated at home. "Most of those who tested positive are youngsters and all have opted for home quarantine. We disinfected the apartment complex and are carrying out tests. Shortly, all their primary and secondary contacts will be traced and tested as well. All these people have no history of international or domestic travel," he said.

New Covid-19 guidelines likely after cluster cases

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

WITH three cluster-like situations in Karnataka, where a high number of people is testing positive, the state health department may soon come out with a new set of guidelines.

The new norms likely to be included are compulsory RT-PCR tests for those coming from high-risk states, seven-day home quarantine for all, and a mandatory RT-PCR test once every 15 days, for those who work in catering companies and serve food.

According to sources, though the number of cases has not gone up in the state, there are a few districts like Bengaluru Urban, Mangaluru, Tumakuru, Mysuru and Kalaburagi where cases have been seeing an upward trajectory in the last few days. "This calls for alarm. The administration will have to now increase tracing and testing, while the people will have to strictly adhere to Covid-appropriate behaviour. We have to understand that the virus is still amongst us and we cannot relax," said Dr C N Manjunath, Director, Jayadeva Institute of Cardiovascular Diseases and Research.

Warning that wedding halls, birthday parties, political, religious and any kind of cultural gatherings can turn into super spreading events, Dr Manjunath said, "There is a lot of movement from Kerala to Karnataka and Maharashtra to Karnataka and vice-versa. These are two high-risk states. We have seen the numbers go up in Maharashtra too. Along with mandatory RT-PCR tests, we will also have to decide on certain kinds of regulations at wedding halls and gatherings," he said.

BBMP medical staff note down details of persons whose swabs were collected for Covid-19 test at Banashankari in the city | ASHISHKRISHNA HP

Dr K V Thrilok Chandra, the newly-appointed Commissioner of the Department of Health, Family Welfare and Ayush Services, said that the situation calls for increased vigilance, especially in those districts where we know that the footfall of people travelling to and from high-risk states is happening.

"We have already made it mandatory for RT-PCR negative tests for people coming in from Kerala to six districts --- Mangaluru, Bengaluru, Udupi, Chamarajanagar, Mysuru and Kodagu. If need be, we will extend it to other districts. As of now, we have noticed that a lot of people travel to and from Kerala which accounts for the country's highest number of cases," Thrilok Chandra said.

Meanwhile, the Covid advisory committee and the Covid task force will soon meet up with the BBMP officials and Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar to decide on further guidelines which may be needed to help keep the rise in the number of cases in control.

The Health Commissioner said that the department officials and the advisory team will meet in two or three days and decide on the future course of action.

K'taka starts second round of vaccination

Bengaluru: Even after experts' advice that the second dose of vaccination should be administered between 8 and 12 weeks after first dose for better efficacy, the state government, while following the Government of India's guidelines, started the drive for the second dosage of vaccination after 28 days of the first shot. On Monday, over 11,985 healthcare workers received their second jab. The highest number of beneficiaries turning up for the second dose was seen in Vijayapura, with over 2,277 turning up, followed by Kodagu district (1,145), Bengaluru Urban (1,162) and Mandya (1,179). The turnout was poor in districts like Shivamogga, with only 77 turning up, Bidar with 26 and Koppal had only 70 beneficiaries. Meanwhile, Belagavi district didn't commence its drive for the the second shot on Monday. The states total target of first and second dose of vaccination on Monday was 8,21,939. However, only 4,22,938 people got vaccinated, bringing the total coverage to 51%. ENS

Insurance to Covid warriors: Lokayukta initiates action

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Lokayukta has initiated suo motu proceedings on the alleged delay in payment of insurance amount of ₹30 lakh each to the legal heirs of corona warriors who died on duty, based on a media report which highlighted the plight of the families of the deceased.

In his order passed on Monday, Lokayukta Justice P Vishwanath Shetty directed the Chief Secretary, Additional Chief Secretaries of Health and Family Welfare Department, Medication Education Department, Principal Secretary of Urban Development Department, DG and IGP, Commissioner of Police, and others to provide the details of Covid Warriors — healthcare workers, police personnel, municipal workers, and ASHA workers — who died of Covid on duty.

He also sought details regarding the payment of insurance amount and other amounts specified by the state that have already been paid to the family of the deceased, number of applications pending for consideration, number of applications rejected, reasons for rejection, and reasons for the delay in disposal of applications. He sought details of officials responsible for the delay in disbursing compensation too.

"Since most of these corona warriors are employees of the state, it shouldn't be difficult to identify their legal heirs," Justice Shetty said in the order.

"Also, authorities of the state government entrusted with the responsibility of settling the benefits are not required to wait till necessary applications are filed by the legal heirs to settle their claims," the Lokayukta said, while setting a deadline of three weeks to submit the details he sought.

The matter has been posted to March 15 for hearing.

Nothing called protocol, says Bommai over arrest

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

DEFENDING the Delhi police action in Bengaluru even as civic society has been raising questions over the way climate activist Disha Ravi was arrested, Home Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Monday said there was nothing called protocol in some cases.

Speaking to reporters, Bommai reiterated his claim while insisting that more information about the arrest could not be shared since the case was pending before a Delhi court.

"There are different kinds of cases. There is nothing called protocol. We also go and arrest so many people outside our state. The question is not that. The case has been booked in Delhi and Delhi police have acted on certain evidence. The matter is in Delhi court. Therefore, I do not want to comment more on that," he told reporters when asked about whether due process was followed during the arrest by non-jurisdictional police.

Lawyers, activists, even legal experts on Sunday had raised concerns about whether due process of law was followed during the arrest with reports suggesting that the local police were not kept in the loop as Delhi police proceeded to survey her residence and make the arrest.

Meanwhile, senior BJP leaders backed police action against Disha and some even deemed her a part of "breaking India forces". BJP National General Secretary B L Santhosh, while criticising those condemning the 21-year-old's arrest, said, "Twenty-one-year-old…environment activist … student ..Are these credentials for becoming a part of breaking India forces..? How does she get the access for editing tool kit ..?Why she is part of anti national WhatsApp groups ..?Many questions ..But only one answer ..21 year old ..!!."

In another tweet, he said attempts were being made to hide a "sin". "Bengaluru Greta Thunberg , Vegan , sole bread winner , student , 21 year old , passionate activist ….. so many attempts to white wash a sin …!! Not one anarchist ready to answer the question .. How 21 year old student got access to edit #Toolkit," he asked.

Meanwhile, Bengaluru Central Lok Sabha MP P C Mohan drew a flak after drawing parallels between Disha and terrorists like Ajmal Kasab. "Burhan Wani was a 21-year-old. Ajmal Kasab was a 21-year-old. Age is just a number! No one is above the law. Law will take its own course. A Crime is a crime is a crime is a crime (SIC)," he said.

"What Lutyens wants India to believe is, #DishaRavi is a 21 year old climate activist. What Delhi police said is, she has conspired against the nation to create anarchy. Standing by the country should be our foremost priority not defending the conspirators & break India forces," added Shobha Karandlaje, Lok Sabha MP from Udupi-Chikkamagaluru.

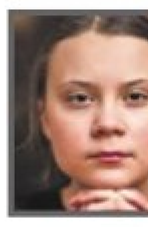
Disha sent toolkit to Greta, link to ISI K2 spearhead found: Delhi cops

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

DID climate activist Disha Ravi know Peter Friedrich -- an alleged close associate of Bhajan Singh (BS) Bhinder alias Iqbal Chowdhary -- a leading proponent of Pakistan's Inter-Services Intelligence (ISI) Kashmir Khalistan (K2) desk?



In a major twist to Disha's arrest, Delhi Police on Monday said that Disha and lawyer activist Nikita Jacob were the editors of the first toolkit, which was "accidentally" tweeted by Greta Thunberg on February 3. She deleted it and later tweeted another toolkit, stating the previous one was "outdated".

The email account allegedly created by another activist, Shantanu, is the owner of this document. Delhi Police arrested Disha from Bengaluru on February 13 and have now obtained non-bailable warrants against Nikita and Shantanu.

This toolkit, allegedly put together by the trio on the alleged instructions of pro-Khalistani group Poetic Justice Foundation, had mentioned Peter Friedrich as a person to be followed along with other NGOs, and established fact-checking organisations with the intention to spread fake news on the three farm laws and create widespread disharmony among groups, said Joint Commissioner, Cyber Cell, Delhi Police, Prem Nath. "It had secessionist and pro-Khalistani content embedded into it through links and texts," he said.

"Peter Friedrich has been on the radar of Indian Intelligence and security agencies since 2006. He is on the K2 desk of ISI. Why was his name mentioned in the 'who to be followed' segment in the toolkit? Did MO Dhaliwal of Poetic Justice Foundation introduce Friedrich to Disha, Nikita and Shantanu to him through Puneet – a pro-Khalistan woman in Canada -- or did they get in touch with him directly. All this is now subject to investigation," Deputy Commissioner, Special Cell, Delhi Police, Manishi Chandra stated.

"Disha had messaged Greta on the WhatsApp group to delete the toolkit which had their names as authors, soon after she tweeted it. She said they could get into trouble and can be booked under the UAPA (Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Activities Act)," said Chandra. "Disha deleted the WhatsApp group. We have extracted highly incriminating information from her phone. She, Shantanu and Nikita created and sent the Toolkit Google doc to others," he added. "Disha is associated with Fridays for Future, and had sent the Toolkit document to Greta on Telegram and coaxed her to act," said Nath.

The intention was to create a 'Twitterstorm' ahead of Republic Day, he added.

He said Disha's arrest was made "in the presence of her mother and local police. Her lawyer was informed and she was produced before the court as per procedures. In the court, she was represented by a lawyer and the same finds mention in the court order".

Oppn rallies behind activist

Bengaluru: While leaders of the BJP have called for strict action against climate activist Disha Ravi, Opposition parties have thrown their weight behind the 21-year-old, condemning her arrest. Congress leaders fumed against the BJP governments at the Centre and State, deeming charges of sedition against the activist flimsy, and her arrest a silencing of dissent. Support is pouring in for the activist, right from former Congress president Rahul Gandhi to former Karnataka chief minister Siddaramaiah, Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal to DMK chief MK Stalin.

Your lips are free to speak, say that the truth is still alive! They are scared, not the country! India won't be silenced

The arrest of Disha Ravi, a climate activist, has exposed the cracks in the Indian democracy under Narendra Modi. How can the act of supporting farmers be charged under sedition? I strongly condemn this politically motivated act by Delhi Police

Journalists are anti nationals. Activists are seditious. Opposition are DeshDrohis. Students are traitors…

A humane climate activist who only wanted farmers' voice heard, say friends

RANJANI MADHAVAN @ Bengaluru

"MOST people who have stepped into the local climate change activism circles in Bengaluru will know Disha Ravi," is how Disha's friend, also a member of Fridays For Future (FFF), a global climate strike movement that she is a co-founder of, says of her.

The 21-year-old Disha was arrested by the Delhi police for editing and disseminating a 'toolkit' (basically, a Google document) in support of farmer's protest and is facing charges of sedition and spreading disharmony and hatred among sections of society. On Sunday, she was remanded in five-day custody of the Delhi police.

But contrary to the "pro-Khalistan" narrative being thrown up, besides charges of sedition slapped against her, what her close friends and those who have worked with her say put her in a humane light. Those who know her and follow her work say the allegations against her are far from truth.

"Disha has always treated people them with kindness, respect, humility and empathy. She is a vocal feminist, a vegan, an animal lover, a climate activist and an inspiring individual overall. She is someone who hasn't had it easy in life, but is very modest about it. She wants to create a world where everyone is treated equally. Coming from a family with a history of farming, these protests hit home for her. She wishes to help farmers get their voices heard. She could not have had any ulterior motives whatsoever. In fact, she is someone who does not believe in dividing people. All these allegations go completely against what I know of her and what she has stood for," says one of her close friends, who wished not to be named.

A Bachelor of Business Administration graduate (2019) from Mount Carmel College, and a staunch vegan and an environmental activist, Disha works as a culinary experience manager with a company that makes vegan products.

Disha's parents — Manjula, a home-maker, and Ravi, an athletics coach in Mysuru — have refused to speak to the media and are exploring various legal avenues to help their only daughter. Her parents are said to have supported Disha in what she believes in, but she was reportedly motivated — according to her interview last year — to be a climate activist after watching her farmer grandparents endure the vagaries of climate change.

Mukund Gowda, an audit consultant and a volunteer at Citizens for Bengaluru who met her two years ago at an event for citizen-based climate activism, says Disha led the FFF campaign here. "Disha would invite us for clean-up drives, protests against tree-cutting in Sarjapur and Shivananda Circle, lake conservation projects, especially Ulsoor Lake, etc. She is a passionate advocate of how human events affect global warming and climate change. She has pushed for zero-plastic usage, and use of biodegradable items," he says,

Explaining her passion for climate activism, he says she would bunk classes on Fridays to attend the FFF activities and her teachers at Mount Carmel College understood the cause she stood for and permitted her absence. "She was happy that her college gave her a chance," Mukund says. "No matter how scarce the turnout at protests was, she was always there with her placards, be it at Town Hall or any other place," he adds.

A former BJP IT cell volunteer and fellow member from FFF (started by 18-year-old Greta Thunberg, a Swedish climate activist, in 2018) in Mumbai, Manan Desai, says, "The 'hateful Khalistani' narrative against Disha is nothing but false propaganda. She is not part of the Sikh community and the toolkit has nothing to do with the Khalistan movement, but just guidelines to support the farmer's protests online and offline. Political parties and corporates, too, use toolkits for spreading their agenda and issues."

FFF — a Thunberg-led movement that saw young activists sit in front of the Swedish parliament every Friday for three weeks to protest against the lack of action on the climate crisis — was also active in protesting against Minister Prakash Javadekar and the Environment Impact Assessment draft. "The government and the IT cell tried to malign us back then, painting us as a terrorist group. They are following the same pattern with ours and Disha's support for the farmer's protest," he says.

Another Disha's friend from FFF, who also requests not to be named, says, "Her arrest is a shock for all of us. All she did was share the toolkit as part of the campaign. She is keen on spreading awareness on the environment, alternative and sustainable products and planting trees. All she wants is to bring a positive change in the world."

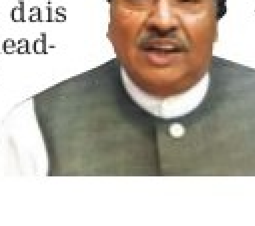
ALL'S NOT WELL?

BJP HIGH COMMAND FROWNS ON MINISTERS JOINING QUOTA STIRS

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

CENTRAL BJP leaders are none too happy with the reservation agitation by groups gaining ground in Karnataka, and BJP National President JP Nadda has reportedly told state party leaders to submit a status report. A number of communities have launched agitations demanding change in reservation status, with active support from state ministers.

Over the past months, ministers have been taking part in conventions of their communities and sharing the dais with community leaders spearheading the demand. Prominent among them are RDPR Minister KS Eshwarappa and Social Welfare Minister B Sriramulu.



BJP sources said that Nadda told Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa to direct ministers in his cabinet not to take part in such agitations. "He has tasked Yediyurappa and BJP State President Nalin Kumar Kateel to provide the status of demands on reservation, caste-wise, and submit the report by next week,'' sources said.

At a recent core committee meeting, Home Minister Amit Shah had told the government and party leaders not to commit themselves on this, sources said. Party leaders have also told Yediyurappa to handle the issue cautiously.

A senior BJP leader, on condition of anonymity, said the reservation row started with a BJP minister and is increasing by the day, with more communities joining the stir. Ministers participating in agitations has left the party and government embarrassed. "Central leaders are unhappy over this development. They have sent a strong message to the Chief Minister and ministers involved,'' the leader said.

Union Minister D V Sadananda Gowda said the reservation row will have a negative impact on society and administration. "Reservation should be given based on economic conditions, and nothing else. This agitation in Karnataka is politically motivated and not good,'' he said.

Our MPs failed to counter Sena: Kannada leaders

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @Belagavi

A Maharashtra Member of Parliament (Shiv Sena) Rahul Shivale raised the boundary dispute in Parliament on Monday, demanding that the Centre announce Belagavi, Karwar, Nipani, Bidar, Bhalki, Khanapur and other border areas adjoining Maharashtra border as Union Territory until the Supreme Court gives its final verdict in the boundary case.

Leaders in Belagavi region questioned the silence of Karnataka MPs on the issue in Parliament and said they should have objected to Shivale's statement as it amounts to sub-judice. They also regretted that CM B S Yediyurappa and other state leaders have not taken serious cognisance of the issue.

BORDER ROW

Shivale said that majority of people in areas along the border in Karnataka speak Marathi and these areas should be merged with Maharashtra. "The Belagavi corporation passed a resolution in 1948 demanding the merger of the city with Maharashtra. The boundary dispute case in the Supreme Court was slated for hearing on March 23, 2018 but it did not take place. Later, the next hearing scheduled for March 17, 2020 too did not happen because of Covid-19,'' he added.

Chikkodi MP Annasaheb Jolle refused to comment on Shivale's statement. In fact, the Meherchand Mahajan Commission in 1966 recommended that Nipani, a part of the Chikkodi LS constituency which Jolle (BJP MP) represents, be merged with Maharashtra.

Kannada leaders Ashok Chandargi, Shivangouda Patil and Shridhar questioned the silence of 28 Karnataka MPs. "Issuing statements on boundary case amounts to contempt of court. Why did Karnataka MPs not stop Maharashtra member from raising the issue?'' asked Chandargi.

Shivangouda said that Karnataka MPs should counter Maharashtra leaders with facts.

Legal expert Ravindra Totiger suggested the State Government bolster its legal teams in Delhi and Bengaluru to counter Maharashtra in the SC. He has handed over official documents of the British era to the State Government which shows Belagavi belonged to Kannadigas. He has a collection of court documents of British era which are written in Kannada.

Sent for forensic analysis to Victoria Hospital; Cops looking at missing person cases in past 4 years

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

LABOURERS carrying out repair works in a drain near Kamakshipalya Traffic Police station on Monday afternoon froze when they stumbled upon a skeleton.

"Around 3pm, workers removed the slabs covering the drain and found the skeleton. They alerted police, who rushed to the spot and conducted a mahazar," a police officer said.

The skeleton was recovered and sent to the forensic medicine department of Victoria Hospital.

"A preliminary probe revealed that the slabs were replaced on the drain about four years ago, and were not removed since then. It is suspected that the body, which might have fallen, or was thrown in an open drain, got stuck here," police said, adding that it was too early to arrive at a conclusion whether it is a case of murder, suicide or accidental death.

DCP (West) Sanjeev Patil said police have sent alerts to all police stations to establish the identity of the body. "We have sought information about missing persons in the past four years. We will have to go through the list of missing persons to find whether any one of them matches the skeleton. We will conduct a DNA test on the skeleton, which looks like that of a male. We have also collected samples of the dirt around and on the body, for a thorough forensic examination," he added.

A case was registered in Vijayanagar police station.

Flyer attempts to board using son's ticket, caught

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

A flyer, who tried to pass himself off as his son to board a flight to Kochi, was caught by the CISF personnel at Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) on Monday. This was the second such case of impersonation detected at the airport within a fortnight.

The incident occurred before 8 am when Abdul Kalam Mondal was on his way to board an Air Asia flight (I5-1983) scheduled to depart at 9.05 am. An airport source said, "The CISF officer got suspicious when he checked the passenger's ticket and the Aadhaar card as ID proof. The Aadhaar card was in the name of 'Idrish Mondal' with the address as Sonatikuri in Murshidabad district in West Bengal." But there was some mismatch in the travel document details and the Aadhaar card, he added.

The officer asked Abdul for some clarity on the matter. He immediately produced another Aadhar card in his real name establishing him as the son of Idrish Mondal. "Both the Aadhaar cards had Abdul's photo with different names, giving rise to a case of suspected identity. On further questioning, the passenger stated that the ticket was booked in his son's name and he decided to travel in his place by editing his son's card," the source said.

The individual has been handed over to the airport police, he added. A similar incident involving two people was reported on January 30.

Apply valuation formula of PG to UG courses: HC to RGUHS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court directed the Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences (RGUHS) to apply the provisions governing valuation of postgraduate courses to undergraduate courses. Quashing the "Amendment to Ordinance Governing Valuation of Answer Scripts of MBBS Course (RS-3 Scheme)" of October 13, 2020, Justice R Devdas passed the order.

Allowing a batch of petitions questioning the amendment, the court directed RGUHS to apply the formula governing PG students, identify all the cases where there is a difference of 15 per cent or more in the four valuations and send them for fifth valuation.

Clarifying that the exercise should be restricted to failed students only, the court directed RGUHS to declare the results as per the provisions governing PG students and issue marks card. "The entire exercise should be completed well before the start of the next year examinations which are tentatively scheduled to commence during first week of March 2021", it said. It observed that the provision for a third valuation in cases of double valuation method and a fifth valuation in case of four valuation is a safety measure.

‘AIADMK only party keeping its word’

DMK falters on its word, its poll promises are thrown in the air, says Tamil Nadu CM EPS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Coimbatore

THE AIADMK is the only party implementing its poll promises, said Chief Minister Edappadi K Palaniswami on Monday. He accused the DMK on faltering on its promises, and said, “In 2006, the DMK announced two acres of land each for landless farmers. However, that did not happen. DMK’s poll promises are thrown in the air, whereas the AIADMK is keeping its word.”

Considering the plight of the poor, former Chief Minister J Jayalalithaa initiated financial assistance and distributed eight grams of gold to facilitate their marriage. “While a total of ₹6,010 crore has been allotted as financial aid and for the gold (to make ‘thaali’), over 11 lakh people have benefitted from the scheme. Likewise, as many as 2,98,841 working women got two-wheelers, for which ₹731.33 crore had been allocated as subsidy. In the last 10 years, the State government has formed as many as 26,43,615 lakh self help groups (SHG), of which 72,680 SHGs are in Coimbatore alone. ₹2,552 crore has also been given as credit to SHG members through banks,” he said.

He added, “Due to the 7.5% horizontal reservation in medical colleges, as many as 435 students from poor backgrounds have secured medical seats this year. The State government has also inaugurated 2,000 Amma clinics in a short span of time.” Palaniswami was speaking at a marriage function of 123 people, organised by the party’s Coimbatore unit.

> Amma (Jayalalithaa) wanted to put a full stop to the DMK regime which never thought of people’s welfare. Hence, she had decided to protest against the DMK in Coimbatore, which then spread to Tiruchy and Madurai, resulting in the DMK’s fall in 2011 — Edappadi K Palaniswami, Tamil Nadu Chief Minister

CBI arrests ED staffer, one other in graft case

ENS @Bengaluru

THE Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) has arrested D Chennakeshavulu, a multi-tasking staffer, working with the Directorate of Enforcement (ED), Bengaluru, and Veeresh, a private person, in an alleged bribery case, said a CBI spokesperson.

“The CBI had registered a case against the accused and unknown others on a complaint. It was alleged that Chennakeshavulu had approached the complainant at a hotel in Bengaluru and introduced himself as an ED officer and told him that he needed to search his house in the light of several complaints against him,” stated the CBI.

“The accused carried out a search at the complainant’s house and demanded Rs 2 crore to close the complaints against him. The complainant allegedly delivered an amount of Rs 6 lakh to Veeresh as instructed by Chennakeshavulu. The complainant received another call the next day and was instructed to hand over the remaining money to a person who would be waiting for him at the designated place. The complainant met the person and insisted that Chennakeshavulu should settle the matter,” the spokesperson added.

The CBI conducted searches at the premises of Chennakeshavulu and Veeresh, and subsequently arrested them. The duo was remanded in five days police custody, added the spokesperson.

Wild jumbo wreaks havoc in Hunsur taluk villages

Mysuru: A wild elephant wrought havoc at several villages in Hunsur taluk of the district damaging houses, tractors and farm lands. According to villagers of Muduganuru in Hunsur, a tusker strayed into their village and neighbouring villages and damaged tractors parked on farm lands and in front of houses. The pachyderm also damaged the house of Koosappa, a resident of a tribal hamlet in Chikkahejjuru village. Fortunately, the tusker did not attack the mud houses, which would have collapsed on people who were sleeping inside. Upon hearing the sound in the middle of the night, the villagers chased the elephant away. The villagers complained to forest officials that they sleep every night with fear and demanded protestion. ENS

Katti backtracks on BPL criteria

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AFTER facing backlash from his own party legislators as well as the opposition parties, Food and Civil Supplies Minister Umesh Katti on Monday clarified that there was no change in the eligibility criteria to get Below Poverty Line (BPL) cards.

On Sunday, Katti had asked families who own a television set, refrigerator, two-wheeler or five-acre land to return their BPL cards before March 31, after which the government would conduct a survey and take action.

His comments drew criticism from both the ruling party and the opposition, who questioned the logic of linking a TV set or a two-wheeler for measuring the poverty of a family.

Former Chief Minister and Janata Dal (S) leader H D Kumaraswamy and Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) working president R Ramalinga Reddy urged the government to reconsider any such move.

BJP MLA Somashekhar Reddy too questioned the move as it would have an adverse impact on poor families, and warned of protesting against it.

However, the minister made amends by stating that there would be no change in the eligibility criteria that was fixed in March 2017. As per the Government Order issued on March 25, 2017, all government employees, those who own three hectares of dry land or irrigated land in rural areas or a house built on a 1,000 sqft site in urban areas, those who own a four-wheeler for personal use, families with annual income of Rs 1.20 lakh or more or households that consume 150 units of electricity every month are not eligible for getting the BPL cards.

However, the criteria on households using 150 units of electricity was removed from the exclusion criteria on May 20, 2017.

Katti said that it has come to the government’s notice that a number of families continue to have BPL cards though they are not eligible. “We request them to return the BPL cards on their own before March 31,” he added.

Sources said the government is said to be thinking of bringing in certain changes in the criteria to streamline the system.

Newly-elected president of Chikka Yammiganuru Gram Panchayat Drakshayanamma oversees the agricultural activities on her field | EXPRESS

She doesn’t need top posts to do service, say villagers

“MY aim is to protect the modesty of the women by providing toilets to everyone in the village,” Drakshayanamma added.

“Another key issue haunting the rural areas is education. Impetus should be given for this and MGNREGA should be implemented effectively for the development of the villages in Chikka Yammiganuru GP,” she said.

She knows the importance of education – for, she passed only lower secondary (7 standard) in the 1940s, after which she got married. She has six children – three sons and three daughters. While one son, B S Shivamurthy has retired as a regional manager of Karnataka Grameena Bank, B S Veerabhadrappa is an engineer at BEML Bengaluru and B S Shivamurthy is an advocate in Chitradurga district court. Her daughters are homemakers.

She doesn’t need top posts to do service, villagers say. In 2016, when the village was reeling under a water crisis, she took the initiative and got a borewell drilled in her field. She got a pipeline laid in the entire village at her own cost and supplied the water regularly.

This gritty woman lives alone -- her children stay in different towns. She cooks for the labourers regularly and then visits her farm. Till recently, she herself used to work on her farm. But now age doesn’t permit her to do hard work.

Arunkumar, her grandson, said, “My grandmother is strong enough to rule the gram panchayat, and she alone takes care of our arecanut fields and lands in the village at this age.”

She is healthy and her eyesight is sharp – she doesn’t need glasses to read newspapers or documents, he said.

Asked about his granny using mobile phones, he said that she has a basic handset and knows to receive and answer calls.

Lots of GST reforms in next 2 years: Bommai

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

HOME Minister Basavaraj Bommai, who represents Karnataka in the GST (Goods and Services Tax) Council, said they were slowly bringing in several reforms into GST compliance and ensuring hand-holding of traders. Speaking at an interactive session with members of the Federation of Karnataka Chambers of Commerce and Industry (FKCCI), Bommai said they were confident of overcoming all difficulties. “Probably, in the next two years, lots of reforms will come,” he said.

Bommai said GST compliance in Karnataka was good and ease of compliance would further help to increase contribution. “We have to do it. There are some complex things. We have to work it out in such a way to ensure ease of compliance,” he said and added that there was a need to bring more efficiency in tax administration.

“Karnataka is a contributor state and contributing states should not be punished. In fact, I had a big argument (in the council) that contributor states should not be punished,” the minister said.

He appreciated the FKCCI’s efforts to create awareness about GST. He said he would take up the members’ concerns on income tax-based notices being issued to traders and other suggestions given in the council.

On the impact of the Covid-19 pandemic, Bommai said the GST collections had suffered, but thanks to the Central government’s initiative, losses were not transferred to states.

Karnataka officials take up task of digitising hissa maps

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

TO ensure that all lands records are available at the click of a button, the Karnataka Sate Remote Sensing Applications Centre (KSRSAC) is helping the survey settlement section of the revenue department to digitise the maps.

KSRSAC has been given the task to digitise the hissa (plots which are a part of main survey numbers) maps. They will be taking up a two-year-old project at a cost of Rs 25 crore. This exercise is different from uploading all maps on Bhoomi.

A senior official told TNIE, “We are providing all the original base maps and sketches for digitisation. There have been divisions in each survey number. That is what is being digitised now.”

The department had also started the exercise of re-assessing all the maps of the city and State using drones. However, the exercise has not moved further because of technical and financial issues. These maps were being created on a more detailed scale.

KSRSAC director Dr K Prabhuraj said, “We are only digitising the data based on the sketches available. No correction, monitoring or legal work is being done. Based on the old survey details, the cadastral maps are being created. The digitised hissa maps, once created, will be fit into the existing sketches, digitised and uploaded by the revenue department.”

There are around two crore hissa maps to be digitised, of which 33,000 villages maps have been digitised in two taluks- KR Pete in Mandya and Vasanagar in Shivamogga.

The revenue department official added that the digitisation of akarbandh maps was also being done. These are divisions of land parcels of A-kharab (permanent kharab) and B-kharab land (temporary kharab land) which are now being assessed and marked out.

OVER-THE-TOP CRACKDOWN AGAINST TOOLKIT CREATORS

Always, the young and the restless have catalysed change in human history—gerontocrats have no stake in the future. Climate change is a reality only the deeply compromised or the deeply irrational deny. Even our government is in sync with this global consensus. Should we then criminalise those who bring our attention to this reality? The government says the farm laws will ensure a paradigm shift. Can that be achieved in silence in a buzzing democracy?

Beyond their pros and cons, the farm laws also help focus our attention on a necessary revisionist reading of the Green Revolution, in terms of its long-term ecological effects. It's possible to be on the side of farmers—whose toil has erased endemic food shortages—and also wish for a truly green farming paradigm. Supporting both is a sign of creative idealism that will save India. It's simple: being pro-farmer and pro-environment is being pro-India. There is no occasion here for the mighty Indian state to shake in anger or cower in fear. That too for a Google document—the fabled 'Toolkit'—that outlined a perfectly legitimate, non-violent protest calendar. Whisking away a 21-year-old girl from Bengaluru in secrecy, and responding to her wish for a better planet with sedition charges, is not going to ennoble India. Disha Ravi is not Mata Hari. No sane mind would have wished to see disorder on R-Day, or any other day for that matter.

In its zeal to unearth a larger 'conspiracy' that would help delegitimise the protests—a 'network of evil' out to 'destabilise India'—the Delhi Police should be careful. An over-the-top crackdown will only scream out to the world that there is a deficit of democracy in India. Every party, including the one in power, has creatively engaged in protests. If draconian laws could stop their politics, Indian democracy would have long ceased to exist.

GRIEVANCES AND POLL PROMISES

The Assembly elections are months away, and major parties in Tamil Nadu are yet to formally release their manifestos and declare their poll promises. Yet, one early-bird assurance by both Dravidian majors has already hit the headlines—to have a centralised grievance redressal mechanism in the state. Largely inspired by the Tamil flick Mudhalvan—in which the highly scrupulous chief minister sets out to clean up the state based on grievance petitions he receives in the complaints boxes installed across towns—DMK president M K Stalin has decided to visit every Assembly constituency and receive grievance petitions from the public in a box. If he wins, Stalin has promised that all the grievances submitted to him would be resolved in the first 100 days of his government.

Not to be left out, the ruling AIADMK went ahead and started its own version of the programme. CM Edappadi K Palaniswami launched a helpline number last week for accelerated redressal of grievances. In both these cases, the idea is to centralise the mechanism, and bring it under the direct purview of the CM. While the concept packs a punch akin to those in political thriller movies, the state already has a pragmatic decentralised system in place. Every week, grievance redressal meetings are held at each and every District Collectorate office in TN. The public get to air their complaints and issues at these meetings, and the Collector and his team are expected to resolve them through appropriate channels. However, over time, this has become an exercise in futility.

Public participation has been stymied due to various reasons—official apathy, lack of amenities in public office spaces, and, the most important of all, inaction. The breakdown in this system has resulted in a number of suicide attempts by the public being reported inside Collectorate complexes. In such a situation, it's a highly welcome move by both parties to put the attention on the subject. However, instead of creating a new system, the focus must be on improving the existing channels—sensitising government officials, cracking down on official apathy, and providing enough funds to create public-friendly spaces and infrastructure to open a mutually beneficial communication channel with the people.

We are likely to face a big data-related catastrophe in the future. Privacy will therefore become the next big opportunity

THE PRIVACY ARMAGEDDON AND AN OPPORTUNITY

How private a person are you?

Let's do a quick privacy audit into our lives and get an answer. There are three types of people out there: private folks, open people and public personas. The first are a small niche today, the second the norm and the third are a social aberration of sorts. These are public personas who crave publicity and make a science of the process of achieving it for themselves. Again a small niche.

The biggest chunk of people out there in modern society is a reasonably open one. A large mass of open people are sandwiched between the two sliced niches of private folks and very public personas. This large chunk comprises two sets of people really. One large set that does not know the fears (real or imagined) attached to leading a very open life and a smaller chunk that just does not care. My recent research exercises in this space indicate a 91% number for those that don't know and a smaller 9% for those that just don't care.

Privacy, therefore, in many ways is a non-issue in India for now. The largest chunks of our populace does lead open lives, sharing data with anyone and everyone who asks for it at whim. No one really knows the risks associated with pinpointed individual data that is shared. And then of course there is that smaller 9% that believes in leading a very open life. These are the youngest of the young in our midst, whose every action and reaction is alive and open in the Instagram posts and reels of the day. Their life is an open book. Open their Facebook pages and you know their every fact and folly.

What, then, is the privacy debate all about? Is privacy a fundamental right? And do people use their own decision-making powers to decide how private or public they want to be? Is this not a right on its own? And must there be privacy laws that get tighter by the day, or looser by the hour? Or must there be a government-level policy on privacy altogether that would govern what can be asked and what can be shared? A policy that dictates what level of masked data is useful for society at large, what level of it is totally unnecessary, and a pure commercial fuel for the many entities that make money out of our lives?

The responses to these questions vary depending on who is answering and the vested interest behind it. As society gradually understands the fact that nothing comes for free, and that data is the new oil (one that not only runs our lives, but our every move in commerce itself), people are going to get more and more wary. Data privacy and protection will become issues personal to the individual as opposed to ones that are floating in the stratosphere of niche public discussion. The privacy debate in India has had this habit of flaring up sporadically and then dying out. The debate has also remained largely a public one at the top of the pyramid of the empowered, rather than a mass debate that touches the largest numbers of people. Privacy, to that extent, is always considered an elitist notion that lives in the minds of those with too much money and too much to hide. The privacy niche will therefore widen to embrace larger masses in the years ahead.

The private people of India, as their numbers grow, will become a target audience for products and services and their brands, later than sooner. People will reach out for privacy products and services. Any app that offers it is going to be reached out to with passion. I do believe privacy is a powder-keg opportunity for those who specialise in this niche product and service space. Privacy, which remains a largely business to business (B2B) play, is slated to become more of a business to consumer (B2C) thing in this new decade.

Privacy is certainly something that you consider sensitive to yourself. And you are going to be very protective about it in the future, more than in the past. Privacy is certainly a terrain that is all about the body, mind and soul, in that order, and you will get more and more protective about each of these realms that relate to you.

> The private people of India will become a target audience for products and services, later than sooner. People will reach out for privacy products and services. ... Privacy, which remains a largely business to business play, is slated to become more of a business to consumer thing in this new decade

I do believe there have been several tectonic "big-nudge" points in our lives over the recent decades. The first such moment was when Osama bin Laden attacked on the US and indeed the entire world in a manner. This led to a complete revival of interest across the globe in the realm of security products and services in our lives. The second big-nudge moment is a very recent one, led by the Covid-19 pandemic. This has nudged every health and hygiene product and service there is to partake into big traction. If I were to wear my Nostradamus hat and do a bit of trend-spotting for the years ahead, I do believe the third big-nudge moment will be the one that will follow a big data breach. A big data catastrophe. A data Armageddon, one which gets people scurrying to protect their data with bigger care.

Privacy will therefore be the next big opportunity for all of us. An opportunity and a theme to work on. And maybe even a theme to celebrate. Let's think this out!

SCULPTURAL SAGA OF MALLITAMMA, A GREAT HOYSALA ARTIST

R H KULKARNI

Professor, Dept of Art History, College of Fine Arts, Karnataka Chitrakala Parishath

The ancient artist has left a rich legacy of the tradition that encapsulates the bygone era. There are a good number of references available about the artists and their teachers. In the Guru-Shishya paramapara, the pedagogy was very strong and it was able to transfer the knowledge to the succeeding generations. The earliest known records of names of artists in Karnataka were at the stupa in Sannati, which belonged to the Maurya and Satavahana periods. The artists' names have been mentioned, such as that of Vishakha, who came from Vidarbha and carved a Buddha statue there. Interestingly, a couple of inscriptions from Banavasi (Vaijayanti) dating to the 2nd-3rd century CE mention the sculptor Ravi, who was a student of Gosala, and similarly, a sculptor Nataka, a student of Damoraka. These names establish the astonishing tradition during those days. In the period of the Chalukyas of Badami, the names of more than 200 artists—Sarvasiddhi Achari, Anivaritachari Gunda, Devaputra, Narasobba, Kolimanchi, Aryamanchi Achari and others—have been mentioned at Badami, Aihole, Mahakuta, Pattadakal and Alampur. Some of them were felicitated with titles by their respective kings.

During the rule of the Hoysala dynasty, the artists became more predominant and historically more conspicuous. Hoysala artists built perhaps the most astonishing and elaborate temples with intricately carved sculptures and architectural details. They followed the traditional Indian temple styles like dravida, nagara, vesara, bhumija and phamsana and redefined them with their artistic idiom. The inscriptions furnish the names of a good number of artists engaged in the creation of sculptures. An inscription at the Doddagaddavalli Mahalakshmi temple (1113 CE) refers to early artists and architects by the name Malloja and Maniyoja. Subsequently, the Beluru Keshava temple—a mega structure built by the king Vishnuvardhana in 1117 CE—has the names of a good number of artists who carved many sculptures that decorated it. Dasoja, an artist who hailed from Balligavi, figures primarily in Beluru.

Mallitamma was one of the most important artists of the Hoysala period. He was responsible for carving and designing a good number of temples. The master artist's name appears many times in Hoysala temples and sculptures. The earliest known example of his work is at the Amruteshwara temple in Amrutapura, Chikkamagaluru. The temple was built and dedicated in 1196 CE by Amruta Dandanayaka under the patronage of King Vira Ballala II. The Amrutapura temple has perhaps the finest of narrative sculptures. The artist's first signature as Mallitamma, engraved in Kannada letters, has been found carved inside one of the domical ceilings of the temple. The name Mallitamma has been resonant throughout the latter half of Hoysala art history. Beginning from 1196 CE, he continued to work until 1268 CE—his last project was at the Keshava Temple in Somanathapura. One can make out the stylistic differences between his initial art projects and the last one.

Mallitamma's artistic career is longer than that of Italian Renaissance artist Michelangelo. When he started his career, Mallitamma was around 18-20 years of age. When he completed the last project, he was likely in his nineties. It is also quite possible that at that age, he executed major art works through his students and followers. In the span of more than 70 years, he was able to carve several hundreds of sculptures in various temple projects. One can notice the matured and prosperous phase of his art at the Nuggihalli Narasimha Temple, (1242 CE). The iconography and style of the sculptures exhibit his imaginative depiction. Mallitamma made all divinities dance on the bhittis of the temples. Nataraja in varied forms, Parvati, Lakshmi, Saraswathi, Mahishamardini, Bhairavi and many other divinities are in dancing postures, many divinities for the first time in such a pose. Shiva's forms such as Gajasamharamurti and Andhakasura Vadha Murti are also depicted in dancing postures. These sculptures are found in Nuggihalli, Harnahalli, Javagallu and other places.

Mallitamma's fame in his own time made him an inevitable presence during the later Hoysala period. Many smaller, non-ornate temples also possibly waited for him to contribute at least a dwarapala (Panchalingeshwara temple, Govindanahalli). He probably had no rival or challenge in his creative work except at the Nuggihalli temple. Nandiya Baichoja, a fellow artist who executed the sculptures on the northern side walls of the Nuggihalli temple, appears only once in Hoysala history. There are identical subjects carved by both doyens with individual stylistic features. Mallitamma was highly imaginative in depicting the weapons of the divinities. He created his own designs and transformed the weapons into flowery motifs such that they appear very ornate.

Mallitamma appears to have had a good number of trained students who worked along with the master artist. The Lakshminarayana Temple at Hosaholalu (K R Pet Taluk, Mandya district) has beautiful sculptures identical in style and subjects. Surprisingly there are no signatures of artists. However, based on their style, the entire work may be ascribed to the Mallitamma School.

Mallitamma's last phase at the Somanathapura Keshava Temple represents his mastery even at that age. He not only sculpted-signed on major wall sculptures, but also signed on many narrative sculptures. The master Hoysala artist was a legend in his own time and his name stands as testimony to the rich tradition of art in India.

Definition of sedition

Disha Ravi, a climate activist in Bengaluru and supposed buddy of Greta Thunberg, has been arrested on sedition charges for sharing a toolkit on the farmers' protest. When proposing a temple to Nathuram Godse doesn't amount to sedition, how does Disha's 'crime' amount to it?

Genuine security issue

It is too early to comment on Disha's arrest. There is a a genuine security issue. To criticise the action of the police because it doesn't suit one's political narrative is not logical. Prudence lies in letting the law take its course.

Jitendranath Guru, Padampur

Detention unfortunate

Disha Ravi's arrest and detention is unfortunate. Her association with Greta's movement for environment conservation cannot be faulted as it has no political leanings. The probe must be impartial.

T P Kurian, Kandanad

Hypocrisy of activists

It is painful to see climate activists like Greta and Disha supporting the agitation when one of the main demands is the withdrawal of the law against stubble burning. Come winter, all activists berate the government on inaction to stop stubble burning. Yet, they have been strangely silent this winter.

CM's flawed logic

Punjab CM Amarinder Singh's statement that the Centre's willingness to amend the farm laws means they are flawed is not right. By this logic, our Constitution should be a very flawed document considering the number of times it has been amended.

Poll-bound states benefit

The four states that benefited majorly from the central Budget this time were Tamil Nadu, Kerala, Assam and West Bengal, mainly because these are poll-bound states. TN is one state where the BJP hopes to win in tandem with the ruling AIADMK.

Career over greater good

A majority of Republican senators voting against the impeachment of former US President Donald Trump shows that they prefer their political careers over the countryy's well-being. Now, the US has lost the moral authority to lecture other nations on democracy and accountability.

Pitch is not unplayable

It is sad to see former English cricketers like Michael Vaughan, David Lloyd, etc., say the pitch in Chepauk is not good. Did they not realise this during the first Test, when England won? This is more a reflection of the lack of skills of English players on spin-friendly pitches.

Support swells both abroad & home for Disha

In contrast, BJP leaders come out strongly with one drawing parallels with terrorists

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THERE was an outpour of support for activist Disha Ravi from the opposition and global personalities even as a BJP leader drew parallels with terrorists and another got embroiled in a controversy over his tweet.

Disha was arrested by the Delhi Police in connection with a 'toolkit' earlier tweeted by Swedish climate activist Greta Thunberg.

Congress leader Raul Gandhi led the charge for his party as he tweeted screenshots of articles related to Ravi's arrest and posted: "India won't be silenced." Priyanka Gandhi Vadra, P Chidamabaram, Shashi Tharoor, Jairam Ramesh, Kapil Sibal chipped in to condemn the arrest.

While Chidambaram urged students and youths to raise their voices against the 'authoritarian' regime, Ramesh dubbed the arrest as unwarranted harassment and intimidation."

AAP chief Arvind Kejriwal and CPI-M general secretary Sitaram Yechury also came out strongly against the Modi government in the case.

It was not just opposition leaders back home extending support, as US vice-president Kamala Harris's niece Meena Harris, British MP Claudia Webbe, American environmentalist Bill McKibben lent support to Disha.

Haryana Home Minister Anil Vij was caught in his own web after Twitter sent him a notice following a complaint from a user in Germany regarding a tweet. "Whoever harbours the seed of anti-nationalism in their mind, that has to be completely destroyed, be it #Disha_Ravi or anyone else," he had tweeted.

Later, Twitter said the tweet was investigated and "was not subject to removal". "Accordingly, we have not taken any action as a result of this specific report."

BJP IT chief Amit Malviya, meanwhile, smelt the role of the Left in this episode. "The Left has been using young impressionable minds as cannon fodder for their deranged politics for a long time. From JNU to Jamia, AMU to Nadwa and now Disha Ravi, are all part of their sinister plot..."

Like Vij, three-time BJP MP from Bengaluru PC Mohan went all out against the 21-year-old climate activist. "Burhan Wani was a 21-year-old. Ajmal Kasab was a 21-year-old. Age is just a number! No one is above the law. Law will take its own course."

LAWYER WHO VOLUNTEERS AS SOCIAL WORKER

A lawyer at Bombay High Court who volunteers for social work, Nikita Jacob has been alleged to have links with AAP. She, however, has denied her link with AAP in her affidavit in the Bombay High Court.

Mo Dhaliwal, the Poetic Justice Foundation founder, contacted Nikita via his colleague Puneet who lives in Canada, the police claim. The motive was to create a Twitter storm ahead of Republic Day. According to her website, Nikita advises her clients to try settling civil disputes. Her Twitter handle that is locked has "Advocate, Bombay High Court" mentioned in her bio

FARMER'S SON WHO DABBLED IN BUSINESS BEFORE ACTIVISM

Environment activist Shantanu Muluk hails from Beed district in Maharashtra, but studied and has been living in Delhi for last several years. His parents, who are farmers by profession, are worried about their son. The Delhi Police visited the family in Beed as it is looking out for him in connection with the toolkit case. "Shantanu's mobile phone is switched off. We last spoke with him few days ago. In lock-down, he was with us only. He studied in Aurangadbad and even did some small business in Pune before moving to Delhi. It is true that he was worried about the farmers and their protest in Delhi. It is natural as son of the farmer to concern about farmer community," his parents said.

Foreigner with ISI links under scanner as name figures in toolkit: Cops

GAYATHRI MANI @NewDelhi

THE name of foreigner, Pieter Friedrich, has also popped up in the toolkit case. Fredrick has been on the radar of Indian security agencies since 2006 for his links with Bhajan Singh Bhinder alias Iqbal Chaudhary, a leading propagandist of Kashmir desk of the Pakistan spy agency ISI.

Police said it will investigate whether Disha Ravi, Nikita Jacob and Shantanu Muluk had any direct connection with Friedrich or Bhinder. Delhi Police suspects some link between them and are investigating the matter. Police also claimed that the toolkit document mentioned Friedrich's name.

Explaining his role, Delhi's Cyber Cell DCP Manishi Chandra, said, "The toolkit is a very carefully crafted document. Peter's role was to decide what hashtag is to be made to trend on a particular day, what action is to be taken and who should be tagged and followed. If you focus on the section as to who is to be followed, you will find certain names of established media houses, reputed fact checker, some NGOs and among those you will find one incongruous looking name and that name is Peter Friedrich."

"As to why Friedrich's name finds a place amongst those who are to be 'followed' as a resourced person is an answer which accused Disha and her colleagues will tell us. Whether it came from MO Dhaliwal (founder of pro-Khalistan group Poetic justice foundation) or whether they (the three accused) have a direct connection with Friedrich or Bhinder is a matter of investigation," Chandra said.

'Disha asked Greta to delete her post'

After Greta Thunberg shared the toolkit on Twitter, climate activist Disha Ravi asked the Swedish environmental activist to delete her post fearing action under the stringent law UAPA as her name was mentioned in the document.

No agenda as is being claimed, Mumbai advocate says in plea

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI & GAYATHRI MANI @Mumbai/ New Delhi

THE transit anticipatory bail leas of advocate on Nikita Jacob and activist Shantanu Muluk has been listed for hearing before the Bombay High Court on Tuesday.

In her petition filed through advocate Sanjukta Dey, Jacob has said on February 11, Delhi Police's Cyber Cell team came to her house with a search warrant and seized her personal documents and electronic gadgets which had confidential information protected by the attorney-client privilege. They also recorded her statement, she said.

Jacob said she volunteered in an environmental movement called 'Extinction Rebellion' and has been researching and circulating information for raising awareness as she was "deeply concerned with the recent farm laws and consequent villainising of farmers".

However, the petition claimed she had "no religious, political and financial motive or agenda". She further claimed that some "social media trollers and bots" are circulating her personal information, email-ids and phone number and she was unnecessarily being linked with political parties.

Seeking bail, she said, "It is difficult for women to travel to other states and defend themselves with the fear of getting arrested in transit on the basis of this frivolous/ false complaint/ FIR. In her plea, she has also sought a copy of the FIR against her.

At a media briefing, Delhi's Joint CP, Cyber Cell, Prem Nath said after investigating several screenshots of the toolkit document available on open source, a search warrant was obtained on February 9 against Jacob and searches were conducted at her house on February 11, "after due intimation to Mumbai police."

Delhi Police said the search was conducted during daytime and the investigating team requested her to make herself available the next morning. She gave written undertaking but went absconding, it said.

China shifts big guns, bunkers from Pangong Tso

MAYANK SINGH @NewDelhi

ARMY officers hope that a part of Chinese disengagement from Ladakh's Pangong Tso would be over by February 20.

The PLA has moved back its artillery guns and has reduced the number of structures from the north bank of the Pangong lake. "Bunkers and shades have been dismantled and artillery guns moved east of Finger 8. Besides, the posts created on the south bank have been removed and armoured vehicles pushed back", said a senior Army officer. "It is a phased disengagement, beginning with armoured vehicles and artillery," he said.

The officer said that the process is continuing from both sides and "we are expecting it to be over by February 20".

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh had told Parliament on February 11 that the two sides had reached an agreement on disengagement of troops from standoff positions in eastern Ladakh.

The two sides began disengagement at Pangong on February 10.

"The Chinese side will keep its troop presence in the north bank area to the east of Finger 8. Reciprocally, the Indian troops will be stationed at their permanent base at Dhan Singh Thapa Post near Finger 3," the officer said. "A similar action would be taken in the south bank area by both sides."

Landforms have to be restored to the April 2020 position. "It has also been agreed to have a temporary moratorium on military activities by both sides in the north bank, including patrolling in traditional areas," he said.

Besides the Finger areas, Gogra-Hot Spring, Galwan and Depsang are the other sites of India-China standoff as also in the Chushul Sector in the south bank side of the Pangong lake.

On Day 9, rescue operation turns into search for bodies

VINEET UPADHYAY @Dehradun

WITH nine more bodies being recovered from the tunnel of Tapovan Hydropower Project in Uttarkhand's Chamoli district on Monday, the chances of finding any of the 37 men trapped alive seems to be over as the rescue operation entered its ninth day.

"Ab koi nahi milega. Ab toh bas bodies mil jayen wohi bohot hai. Kam se kam ghar wale unka antim sanskaar to kr lenge (No one can be found alive now. We hope to find bodies so that the families can perform the last rites at least)," an official closely monitoring the situation told TNIE.

Fifty-five bodies have been recovered from various spots, including the tunnel, while 149 are missing after the February 7 deluge damaged NTPC's Tapovan-Vishnugad and Rishi Ganga hydel projects.

NTPC project director Ujjwal Bhattacharya said rescue workers have reached up to 135 metres inside the 180-metre Tapovan tunnel. "Sludge and water impedes our progress. The bodies are being returned to families."

"The operations are being running on a war footing. It can take three-four more days," Uttarakhand DGP Ashok Kumar said. "If the need be, the operation may continue for more days..."

Families, friends and relatives have also lost hope to find their near and dear ones alive. "We have now accepted that my brother is not coming out of that tunnel alive. We are now waiting for his body to be found," said Pooja Pant, who was one of the angry protesters on site who alleged that NTPC was not doing enough to rescue the trapped men.

Officials reviewed the progress of the operations in Tapovan, Raini and elsewhere on Monday. "Clearing of the tunnel is on from where a team recovered nine bodies today," said Ravinath Raman, Commissioner of Garhwal division.

As a precautionary step, SDRF has installed alarm system to detect the rise in the level of waters in Rishi and Dhauli Ganga to sound alert in case the temporary lake formed 8kms upstream breaks.

Former SC judge Sawant dies aged 90

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mumbai

Former judge of Supreme Court Justice PB Sawant, who was one of the co-conveners of the Elgar Parishad in 2017, passed away following a cardiac arrest on Monday.

Justice Sawant, 90, breathed his last at his family home in Pune. His last rites will be performed in Pune on Tuesday.

After a thriving legal practice in Mumbai, Justice Sawant was appointed judge of Bombay High Court in 1973 and later elevated to the Supreme Court in 1989.

Among his notable early achievements was probing the crash of the Air India aircraft 'Gauri Shankar' on a Kuala Lumpur-Mumbai flight, which crashed during hard-landing at Mumbai's Sahar International Airport on June 21, 1982, during a thunderstorm, killing at least 17 passengers.

Associated with many human rights, civil liberties, public and social causes, Justice Sawant was one of the three judges of an independent panel that probed the post-Godhra violence in Gujarat in 2002.

On December 31, 2017, Justice Sawant along with his colleague Justice BG Kolse-Patil co-convened the Elgar Parishad which culminated into a major socio-political churning.

UK minister Alok Sharma in India for climate talks

NEW DELHI: UK Minister for COP26 Alok Sharma arrived in India on Monday to hold talks with stakeholders to strengthen the India-UK partnership on climate change.

Sharma, during his two-day visit, is expected to hold talks with ministers, business leaders and civil society members to discuss climate issues and to prepare for the COP26 summit in November.

India has been at the forefront of climate change initiatives like the Coalition for Disaster Resilience and the International Solar Alliance. UK is the co-chair of the CDRI. "India's expertise is expected to be of great value to global discussions on a clean energy transition as part of COP preparations," the British high commission said.

Sharma's meetings are expected to focus on opportunities in the low carbon economy, existing commitments to achieve net-zero emissions and encourage influential businesses to promote the growing movement of corporate climate action throughout their sector and supply chain. ENS

Shringla to be in Russia for two days

New Delhi: Foreign Secretary Harsh Vardhan Shringla will be on a two-day visit to Russia from Wednesday where he will hold discussions on bilateral issues and issues of regional and global importance. "The foreign secretary will hold the next round of India-Russia foreign office consultations with Deputy Foreign Minister Morgulov, during which the two sides will review the entire gamut of bilateral relations" the MEA said. Shringla's first visit abroad to Moscow this year signifies the importance India attaches to its relations with Russia, it added.

Privacy more important than money, says SC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

WHATSAPP may be a $2-3 trillion company but people value their privacy more than money, the Supreme Court said, issuing notices to the US-based instant messaging firm's reply on a fresh plea challenging its new policy to share users' data with parent company Facebook.

The new privacy policy was originally scheduled to come into effect on February 8 but it was delayed by three months after users expressed concern about their privacy. The policy asks WhatsApp users to agree to its new data-sharing norms, a key point of which is sharing data from business conversations with Facebook.

On Monday, a bench headed by Chief Justice of India S A Bobde noted that people's privacy must be protected in view of the allegation that their data was being shared with other companies. It asked the respondents to respond in four weeks.

Indian citizens have grave apprehensions regarding the privacy concerns posed by the new privacy policy introduced by WhatsApp, it said. "You (Facebook and WhatsApp) may be a $2-3 trillion company but people value their privacy more than money."

The petitioners demanded that WhatsApp should not apply lower privacy standards for Indians and that it should be on the lines of what is followed in Europe.

On behalf of the petitioner, senior advocate Shyam Divan pointed out that WhatsApp was differentiating between Indian and European users in terms of privacy standards. He also alleged that huge metadata was being shared for profit.

WhatsApp denied differential treatment in its new privacy policy. "Europe has a special law (General Data Protection Regulations), which India didn't. If India has a law, we will follow the same," said senior advocate Kapil Sibal.

What will not change according to WhatsApp

"The privacy and security of your personal messages and calls do not change. They are protected by end-to-end encryption, and WhatsApp and Facebook cannot read or listen to them. We will never weaken this security and we label each chat so you know our commitment," the instant messaging says to users in a message on its website.

ATTENDANCE IN KVs NOT HIGH YET: CENTRE

NEW DELHI: Over 65 per cent students in Classes 10, 12 set to appear in Board examinations are attending Kendriya Vidyalayas since October, the Centre said.

As per the data compiled till last week and shared by the education ministry, attendance is 65% in Class 10 and 67% in Class 12, board exams for which are set to start on May 4.

But in classes that will not be writing the CBSE 2021 exams, attendance is significantly lower — an average of 42% in Class 9 and 48% in Class 11 are "physically attending classes all over the country", the government said in a statement. "These figures are dynamic and trends indicate consistent increase every day. Face-to-face classes for Class 1 to 8 have been started in some KVs where states have permitted (reopening of) schools for junior grades."

Several states have now allowed reopening schools for higher classes but attendance is mostly voluntary. "The SOPs issued by the state and central governments are being followed completely in view of the corona pandemic," the statement said. "All KVs are clearly advised to follow staggered timings for adequate safety." ENS

Meal for poor at ₹5 in Mamata's Maa kitchen

With eye on Assembly elections, West Bengal chief minister sanctions `100 crore for ambitious lunch scheme

PRANAB MONDAL @Kolkata

CM Mamata Banerjee inaugurates a hospital in Kolkata on Monday | BIBHASH LODH

RICE, daal, subzi and egg curry for ₹5! Taking a leaf out of the book of late Tamil Nadu Chief Minister J Jaylalithaa, Mamata Banerjee launched a meal scheme for the poor on Monday. Called 'Maa', this subsidised meal package comes months before the Assembly elections in West Bengal. The state government has sanctioned ₹100 crore for the project.

Jayalalithaa had initiated a similar scheme in Tamil Nadu, offering food at cheap rates, aimed mainly at the poorer section. The outlets were popularly known as Amma Canteen. It is believed that this concept played a significant role in AIADMK's sweeping success in the Lok Sabha polls in 2014, when they bagged 37 of 39 seats in the state. With elections knocking on the doors of West Bengal, this move by the chief minister seems to be targeting the same objective.

The Maa kitchens will be functional from 1 pm to 3 pm and food will be given on a first come first serve basis. To begin with, there will be 16 kitchens in Kolkata and one in each of the 23 district headquarters. Shortly, the initiative will be spread to all the municipal areas in the state, said an official of the state government. In all, there would be around 180 kitchens across the state.

"The target beneficiaries of the scheme are daily wage earners and poorly paid workers. These people find it difficult to afford a regular meal even in cheap eateries. This new scheme will help them,'' said Mamata, while inaugurating the scheme virtually from the state secretariat.

The state government has engaged self help group workers to run the Maa scheme. "Fund will not be an issue. We have chalked out a detailed plan. We have our own mechanism of procuring ingredients to run the scheme,'' said Mamata.

Leaders of the ruling Trinamool Congress described this as a masterstroke by Mamata, who had earlier announced free health insurance protection for the people of the state ahead of the elections. "The health insurance scheme received very good response. Going by initial reactions, the food scheme will also be a success. Sure it will give us electoral dividends," said a TMC leader.

Priyanka Gandhi Vadra at a 'kisan mahapanchayat' in Bijnor on Monday | EXPRESS

Priyanka's farmer visits worry BJP

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

PRIYANKA Gandhi Vadra's frequent visits to the state aimed at reviving her party for 2022 assembly polls has prompted the BJP to strategise to blunt her attack.

Till mid-February, the Congress leader has visited the state four times. She was in Rampur on February 4 to meet the family of farmer Navdeep Singh, who died during the Republic Day protests. She went to Saharanpur on February 10 to address a 'kisan mahapanchayat' despite the district administration's refusal to allow such a gathering. On February 11, she was in Prayagraj, where she displayed her 'soft Hindutva' approach by taking a holy dip at the Sangam.

On Monday, the Congress general secretary was in the western UP district of Bijnor, where she addressed another 'kisan panchayat' repeating her charge that the Centre and PM Narendra Modi were helping "his billionaire friends" at the cost of farmers.

BJP insiders say the party is planning a series of pro-farmer meetings. The 'action plan' envisages small, rural gatherings. Besides, the leadership is also contemplating giving some positions of prominence in the party to some Jat leaders. The buzz is that Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath may reshuffle his cabinet and induct party leaders for western UP, which has emerged an epicentre of farmer protests. Groups of farmers backing the new farm laws, too, are active and moves are afoot to rope them in.

State BJP leaders have already started attending farmers' meetings. Assembly feedback is being gathered through grassroots cadre. Special focus is on those assembly constituencies which the party had won in the 2017 elections. The party's rural exercise is being spearheaded by BJP state chief Swatantra Dev Singh. It will also help the BJP in upcoming panchayat polls likely in April-May.

The western UP leadership of BJP seems to be cagey about the 'kisan mahapanchayats' organised by Rashtriya Lok Dal, Congress and Samajwadi Party. "The farmers' protest might have benefited the RLD and SP to an extent, but 2022 elections are a year away. We are confident of regaining the ground," said a senior BJP functionary.

Observers believe more than BJP, parties like SP and BSP would be more cautious of the Congress presence as the party has a common vote bank. If Congress succeed sin gaining ground, it would be at the cost of regional satraps, they said.

SPECULATION RIFE AFTER KANHAIYA MEETS NITISH AIDE

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @Patna

IS the ruling JD-U in Bihar working to break the Chirag Paswan-led LJP and the CPI? Recent developments have created such a buzz. LJP MP Chandan Singh recently met JD-U president and Chief Minister Nitish Kumar. It was closely followed by CPI leader and ex-president of JNU Students Union Kanhaiya Kumar's meeting with the CM's close aide Ashok K Chaudhary.

These meetings set off speculation in the corridors of power in the state. Chandan Singh went to Nitish's residence with a bouquet of red roses followed by a photo session. This was the second meeting between these two leaders and came after LJP's lone MLA Raj Kumar Singh met JD-U's Chaudhary.

Though the LJP MP clarified his meeting with the CM was related to development work in his constituency, sources said given the damage the LJP did to the JD-U in the Assembly polls, the parleys did have political overtones. LJP spokesperson Mohammad Asharf sought to clear the air by saying the meeting should not be viewed from political perspective.

Meanwhile, CPI's firebrand youth leader Kanhaiya Kumar, too, created a buzz as he met Nitish's political confidant. "Kanhaiya met Nitish when the CPI recently took disciplinary action against him for his "treatment" of party leaders in Patna," said a political observer. Political analyst Ashok Mishra says such a meeting cannot be ignored in Bihar's ever changing politics.

The JD-U may try to embrace Kanhaiya if he changes his stand in line with JD-U's ideology. Sources say if Kanhaiya were to switch keeping his future in mind, JDU might use him from Begusarai in 2025 in a scenario where the JD-U is no longer able to keep its alliance with the BJP. "The party can use his oratory skills to counter RJD," said a political observer.

Discontent in Bihar BJP, MLAs seek PM meeting

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @Patna

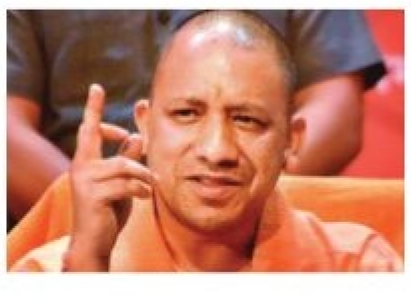
VOICES of dissent seem to be getting louder in Bihar BJP. Exclusion of some senior leaders when the cabinet was expanded and reshuffled recently appears to be the reason. The disgruntled section is said to be headed by Barh MLA Gyanendra Kumar Singh.

Gyanendra is planning to meet MLAs who have similar grudge. Speaking to this newspaper on Monday, he said: "I will sit with 15 other MLAs of our party and discuss the next course of action to save the party from being ruined by a bunch of leaders. The party is being used for a certain kind of caste-based lobby at the cost of the party's ideology".

He added that he and 15 other MLAs, who are annoyed at the arbitrarily functioning of state BJP chief Sanjay Jaiswal, will try to seek an appointment with PM Narendra Modi, Home Minister Amit Shah and BJP's national president JP Nadda to apprise them of what is happening in the party in Bihar. Ruling out defection, Gyanendra said he will continue to be vocal against acts damaging the party's image. He is expected to meet the other MLAs before the commencement of the Assembly session from February 19.

CM Adityanath launches free tutorial scheme for competitive exam aspirants

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow



OFFERING the youth of the state coaching for various competitive exams, UP CM Yogi Adityanath inaugurated the Abhyudaya scheme via video links on Monday.

While interacting with the aspirants, around 5 lakh of whom have already registered for the facility, the CM emphasised that the scheme would help aspirants, who were not able to access good study material and other means, prepare for these examinations.

"We will ensure holistic development by providing coaching facilities similar to that of Kota and Prayagraj to candidates in other parts of the state who are not able to avail those services," said the CM.

He termed the scheme path pradarshak (guiding light) for the candidates. "We decided to introduce such a facility when we came across about 30,000 competitive exam prospects stuck in Kota and Prayagraj due to Covid."

Under the Abhyudaya scheme, free coaching will be provided by the UP government across 75 districts and 18 divisions. Initially, coaching centres will operate at divisional headquarters. Later, they will be spread to the districts. This programme is aimed especially at those who cannot afford proper coaching due to financial problems. The coaching institutes will start functioning from Tuesday.

So far, around 5 lakh aspirants have registered on the portal and over 50,000 were shortlisted. The aspirants are shortlisted on the basis of merit through an entrance test. The first entrance test had taken place on Saturday. Senior IAS, IPS and PCS officers will conduct some of the classes.

Police books Yuvraj for casteist comment

Chandigarh: Haryana Police has booked former cricketer Yuvraj Singh for making casteist remarks. The complaint was filed eight months ago. The police registered a case on various charges including provoking with intent to cause riots, promoting enmity between different groups on grounds of religion, race, language and also under SC and ST Act on the complaint of a lawyer. It is alleged that Yuvraj made these remarks during an Instagram show with fellow cricketer Rohit Sharma in reference to Yuzvendra Chahal. Yuvraj apologised at that time, saying he did not mean to hurt.

Covid rising again in Maharashtra

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

AFTER Mumbai, Covid-19 positive cases have significantly increased in the last few days across Maharashtra.

According to Maharashtra's health department data, 652 people were infected on February 11. "On February 14, it reached 4,092. On Monday, 3365 cases were reported across the state with 23 deaths. Most of these are from 10 districts, including Mumbai, Thane, Nagpur, Gadchiroli, Aamarawati etc," said Maharashtra Health Minister Rajesh Tope.

> Covid cases are mainly rising in Vidarbha and Mumbai... Last Sunday, 11,431 new patients were found in India. Of them, 4092 are from Maharashtra
>
> Rajesh Tope, health minister

Dr Shashank Joshi, member of the state government's Covid-19 task force, said reopening of schools, colleges, markets, religious places have resulted in the sudden spike.

He cited general reluctance to follow guidelines as another reason. "Wearing masks is not taken seriously. Besides, social distancing is not followed. If people do not take this seriously, then we have no option but to shut down everything, like in the earlier phase," he said.

Health Minister Tope also sounded worried. "Covid cases are mainly rising in Vidarbha and Mumbai. The second dose of vaccine has been given. Last Sunday, 11,431 new patients were found in India. Of them, 4092 are from Maharashtra," he said on Monday.

So far, 1.09 crore people in India have contracted coronavirus,. Of them, 1.06 crore have recovered, while 1.55 lakh people have dieda. At present 1.36 lakh people in the country are undergoing treatment for coronavirus.

S Jaishankar with Japan's Ambassador Santoshi Suzuki at Kamakhya temple | PTI

EXTERNAL Affairs Minister S Jaishankar on Monday said the Kaladan Multi-Modal Transit Transport Project was getting the final push. He cited various challenges which delayed the completion of the project.

"Kaladan is in a difficult part of Myanmar. There were logistical challenges even to get there. Work has progressed in parts. The Sittwe port has been operational for some time. The Paletwa Inland Water Terminal has also progressed. But the real challenge we faced was on the waterway. Navigability of the dirt was much difficult than the surveys had indicated," Jaishankar said.

The US $484 million project will connect the Kolkata port with Sittwe port in Rakhine in Myanmar. In Myanmar, it will link the Sittwe port with Paletwa in Chin via the Kaladan river boat route, and then from Paletwa by road to Mizoram. The project was scheduled to be completed by 2014.

"We had to increase the road element of the project which was in Mizoram. Building road has been the cause of delay because there are law and order challenges. But we are confident that we will be able to push it through. Some projects move faster, some move slower," said Jaishankar. He was accompanied by Japan's Ambassador to India, Satoshi Suzuki.

16 killed as truck falls into roadside pit

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mumbai

AS many as 16 persons were killed and five injured after a truck carrying labourers overturned and fell into a roadside pit at Kingaon, near Yawal Taluka in the Jalgaon district of Maharashtra, in the wee hours of Monday.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi and President Ram Nath Kovind have expressed grief at the incident.

The deceased include two children, aged three and five, and a 15-year-old girl. The victims have been identified as Hussain Muslim Maniyar (30), Sarfaraz Tadvi (32), Digambar Sapkale (55), Narendra Wagh (25), Dildar Tadvi (20), Ashok Wagh (40), Durgabai Adakmol (20), Ganesh More (5), Sagar Wagh (3), Sharda Ramesh More (15), Sangeeta Ashok Wagh (35), Yamunabai Ingle (45), Kamlabai More (45), Sabnoor Tadvi (53) and Sandip Bhalerao (25). The labourers were from the Abhoda, Vivra, Kerhala villages and Raver tehsil in the Jalgaon district.

The injured have been admitted to Jalgaon Civil Hospital. Two of them are said to be in a critical condition.

Row over relocation of zoo black panthers

The Guwahati zoo has relocated a pair of black panthers to the Reliance Industries-run Greens Zoological Rescue and Rehabilitation Kingdom in Gujarat's Jamnagar. Under the animal exchange programme, the Jamnagar zoo would help Guwahati zoo get zebras from Israel. The Congress, however, condemned it. "It seems even wild animals kept in zoos cannot escape from the tentacles of big corporate houses..." the party said. Guwahati zoo authorities said: "We received an animal exchange proposal from them. After receiving an approval, we sent the black panthers to Jamnagar."

Airport to Adani Group evokes protest

The handover of Lokpriya Gopinath Bordoloi International Airport (Guwahati airport) to the Adani Group has met with opposition. Members of the newly-floated Asom Jatiya Parishad (AJP) staged a protest outside the airport recently. They said the airport was handed over to Adani Group without the consent of the people of Assam and in violation of the federal spirit of the Constitution. "The people of Assam are dismayed at the decision of the Central government. We stand opposed to the handing over of the airport to the Adani Group. We protest against this action of the Central government and it will remain an issue for us in the future. Kindly convey our protest to the highest authority of Airport Authority of India," AJP wrote in a memorandum to airport officials.

Congress vs AIUDF friendly fight likely

In poll-bound Assam, Congress and All India United Democratic Front (AIUDF), who have forged an alliance to prevent the split of anti-BJP votes, may end up having friendly contests in several seats. Rumours have it that both want to field candidates in some seats currently held by each other. This was indicated by AIUDF chief and MP Maulana Badruddin Ajmal, who said the two parties may have friendly contests in two to four seats. If sources are to be believed, the party will ask for at least 40 seats as per the seat-sharing arrangement. The two parties are constituents of a six-party alliance.

Waiter regales diners with robot dance

A 19-year-old from Tripura has taken the internet by a storm with his dance moves. A video of Surajit Tripura, who works as a waiter at an upscale Guwahati restaurant, has gone viral on social media. He is seen performing robot dance with the popular Bollywood number "Girl I Need You" from the film "Baaghi" amidst loud cheers from the customers. They clicked his photos and shot videos. The performance also earned him instant fame. The teenager is overjoyed with the kind of attention he has been geeting. "I am overwhelmed. It feels great when customers mill around me to talk to me or take selfies," he said.

Royals Meghan, Harry expecting second child

London: Britain's Prince Harry and his wife Meghan Markle are expecting their second child, the couple revealed on Valentine's Day—the first senior royal due to be born outside Britain in 100 years. The couple released an image of themselves with Markle holding her baby bump.

Suu Kyi's detention extended as crackdown intensifies

Security forces in Myanmar use increasingly violent means to bring demonstrations under control; protesters warned of lengthy jail terms

YANGON

MYANMAR'S military leaders have extended their detention of deposed leader Aung San Suu Kyi, whose remand was set to expire on Monday and whose freedom is a key demand of the crowds of people continuing to protest this month's military coup.

Suu Kyi will now be remanded until February 17, when she will likely appear in court by videoconference, according to Khin Maung Zaw, a lawyer asked by Suu Kyi's party to represent her.

The Nobel laureate remains under house arrest on a minor charge of possessing unregistered imported walkie-talkies.

Suu Kyi's extended detention is likely to further inflame tensions between the military, which seized power in February 1 coup, and the protesters who have taken to the streets of cities across the Southeast Asian nation seeking the return of the civilian government they elected.

Protesters continued to gather across Myanmar on Monday, following a night in which authorities cut the country's internet access and increased the security presence in major cities seeking to curtail demonstrations. Public was warned of jail terms of up to 20 years for backing protests.

Thousands of engineers marched on the streets of Mandalay chanting and holding signs that read: "Free our leader," "Who stands with justice?" and "Stop arresting people illegally at midnight."

Sleepless residents were patrolling their neighbourhoods at night to guard against arrest raids by the military.

"Of course we are scared because they are armed... but we will continue our watch every night," Myo Ko Ko, who has been helping guard streets in Yangon, told reporters. "We can't let anyone be taken."

A man runs as a soldier jumps off from a vehicle in Mandalay, which saw major demonstrations against the military on Monday | AFP

Many are also on edge over rumours proliferating on social media that claim recently freed prisoners are being sent into the community to sow havoc. Pushing fears into overdrive are images of armoured vehicles around major Myanmar cities, as well as another internet shutdown in the early hours of Monday.

For the last few nights, Myo Ko Ko has helped barricade roads leading into his community, where neighbours announce the arrival of strangers by banging pots and pans. The practice was initially a staple of nightly protests that began in the days after the coup and it traditionally symbolises the driving out of evil spirits -- but now signals a call to protect the streets.

"We chased after a suspicious guy and caught him, but when we questioned him we got nothing concrete except that he came out of a prison," the 39-year-old Myo Ko Ko said, adding the man was later handed over to police. Rumours of evening disturbances in urban centres have spread on social media, along with anger at what some believe is a deliberate campaign of fear orchestrated by the generals. Reports have so far been difficult to verify, but more neighbourhoods are mobilising to guard against intruders. Agencies

Crude prices continue upward, cross $63/bbl

Domestic fuel prices hiked for the seventh straight day on Monday, US stimulus hopes to drive crude rates higher

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

WITH the Centre having ruled out any duty reductions on fuel, domestic fuel prices are likely to remain under heavy upward pressure since international crude oil prices are seen mainataining current levels, or rising even higher, riding on the expected demand boost from the US stimulus programme. The heartening signs that the global economy is recovering faster than expected and continued OPEC+ output cuts are other factors that will keep crude oil prices high.

In fact, the faster-than-expected progress in getting the US stimulus programme off the ground has already led to brent crude oil prices breaching the $63 per barel mark on Monday. This compared to a price of just $56.35 at the start of the current month. The sharp rise in oil prices have in turn led Indian oil marketing companies to hike domestic prices of petrol and diesel too. Petrol prices were increased by 26 paise per litre and diesel by 29 paise, according to a price notification.

The hike took petrol price in Delhi to a record ₹88.99 per litre and to a highest-ever rate of ₹95.46 a litre in Mumbai. The diesel rate climbed to ₹79.35 a litre in Delhi and to ₹86.34 in Mumbai. These seven consecutive days have seen prices rise by ₹2.04 per litre for petrol and ₹2.22 for diesel.

After the massive duty hikes made by both Central and state governments during the course of the pandemic, such taxes make up over 61 per cent of the retail selling price of petrol and about 56 per cent of diesel currently. However, Oil Minister Dharmendra Pradhan had last week told Parliament that the central government is not considering a reduction in excise duty to cool fuel prices.

The government has been the largest beneficiary of the sharp fall in crude oil prices during last summer, while consumers have borne the brunt of the subsequent rise. According to data from the Comptroller General of Accounts (CGA), excise duty collections during April-November 2020 was ₹1,96,342 crore, compared to ₹1,32,899 crore taken in during the corresponding period of the previous year.

Tata's Jaguar sets eyes on going fully electric by 2025

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

TATA Group-owned luxury carmaker Jaguar Land Rover (JLR) declared on Monday that it is now on its way to becoming a net zero carbon company by 2039, with a large scale electrification of its portfolio in the works. First, the company's Jaguar line of cars will turn into an all-electric brand by 2025. The carmaker will also welcome six electric variants of Land Rover SUVs over the next five years, with the first all-electric variant Land Rover to arrive in 2024. To achieve this goal, JLR will invest 2.5 billion pounds ($3.5 billion) a year into electrification and related technologies.

Part of the company's Reimagine strategy, the announcement comes at a time when Tesla, the world's most valuable car company, is expected to set-up a factory in Bengaluru. Elon Musk's all-electric brand has already taken a giant lead in the EV race, forcing legacy carbrands to play catch-up.

JLR will also curate closer collaboration and knowledge-sharing with Tata Group companies. "The Reimagine strategy takes JLR on a significant path of acceleration in harmony with the vision and sustainability priorities of the wider Tata Group," said N Chandrasekaran, chairman, Tata Sons in a statement.

"We have so many ingredients from within. It is a unique opportunity... Others have to rely solely on external partnerships and compromise, but we have frictionless access that will allow us to lean forward with confidence and at speed," added JLR Chief Executive Officer Thierry Bolloré.

According to the firm, it is "on a path towards double-digit EBIT margins and positive cash flow, with an ambition to achieve positive cash net-of-debt by 2025". By 2030, in addition to 100 per cent of Jaguar sales, JLR anticipates that around 60 per cent of Land Rovers sold will be with zero tailpipe powertrains.

India's exports grow 6.16%, imports up 2% in Jan

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA'S exports grew by 6.16 per cent in January to $27.45 billion showing signs of a recovery, with exporters claiming that the worst might be over for Indian trade.

According to data released by the commerce ministry on Monday, imports also grew by 2 per cent to about $42 billion, leaving a trade deficit of $14.54 billion during the month.

For the April-January period of this fiscal, exports dipped by 13.58 per cent to $228.25 billion, while imports declined by 25.92 per cent to $300.26 billion. In terms of merchandise and services combined, exports in April-January 2020-21 are estimated at $396.60 billion, contracting by 10.63 per cent over the same period last year. Meanwhile, overall imports during the period are pegged at $398.47 billion, 22.80 per cent lower.

Almost all major export category products saw growth in January,, barring textiles, leather and gems and Jewellery. Negative growth, however, continued in the exports of certain major products including petroleum products, leather and leather products, textiles, meat, dairy and poultry products, oil seeds, marine products, and gems and jewellery.

The larger turnaround is promising, note exporters. "January exports also signals that our traditional and labour-intensive sectors of exports (except apparels, leather, marine products and gems & jewellery) have already passed the most challenging and testing times," said Sharad Kumar Saraf, president, FIEO.

But the industry body also reiterated that the government must address some key issues including the release of the required funds for exporter-friendly schemes, ensuring adequate availability of containers, softening freight charges, resolving risk-related concerns, and the allocation of funds for NIRVIK Scheme.

WPI inflation rises to 2.03% as increasing fuel costs start biting

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

EVEN as food prices have softened, wholesale price-based inflation rose sharply to 2.03 per cent in January due to high petroleum prices. Analysts expect that prices, and hence the index, are only likely to continue rising over the next few months.

WPI inflation had come in at 1.22 per cent in December 2020 and 3.52 per cent in January last year. Core inflation, meanwhile, rose to a 27-month high of 5.1 per cent in January 2021.

According to data released by the commerce ministry on Monday, the rise in the WPI inflation in January was led by the non-food basket, mainly fuel and power and crude petroleum and natural gas. Food prices, however, were down by 2.8 per cent, against a contraction of 1.11 per cent in the previous month. In the case of non-food articles, the inflation rate was higher at 4.16 per cent.

According to Aditi Nayar, Principal Economist, ICRA, deeper disinflation in primary food articles has helped to cushion the impact of the sharp rise in core inflation. However, this figure is only expected to begin increasing in next few months.

"The headline WPI inflation is set to record large upticks over the course of the next few months. We now expect the WPI inflation to average 5-5.5 per cent in FY2022, unless the available vaccines turn out to be ineffective against new Covid-19 variants, causing commodity prices, consumer confidence and business sentiment to plunge," Nayar added.

RBI constitutes expert committee on Urban Co-operative Banks

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Monday constituted an eight-member expert committee on Urban Co-operative Banks (UCBs) that is tasked with examining existing issues and provide a road map for strengthening the sector. The panel will function under the chairmanship of former RBI Governor N S Vishwanathan.

According to a statement from the RBI, the committee will take stock of the regulatory measures taken by the central bank and other authorities related to UCBs and assess their impact over the last five years. The objective will be to identify key constraints and enablers.

The primary job of the committee will be to "consider the need for differential regulations and examine prospects to allow more leeway in permissible activities for UCBs with a view to enhance their resilience". It will also have to draw up a vision document to achieve a vibrant and resilient urban co-operative banking sector that will prioritise the "principles of cooperation as well as depositors' interest and systemic issues".

Aside from Vishwanathan, other members include Former NABARD Chairman Harsh Kumar Bhanwala, retired IAS officers N C Muniyappa and R N Joshi, IIM Bangalore professor M S Sriram, among others. Neeraj Nigam, Chief General Manager-in-Charge of the central bank's Department of Regulation, will be the Convenor of the committee. The panel will submit its report within three months from the date of its first meeting.

IT sector revenue to hit $194 bn this fiscal year

BISMAH MALIK @ Bengaluru

INDIA'S IT services sector is likely to achieve revenues of $194 billion in FY21, nearly 8 per cent of the country's GDP, believes industry body Nasscom. The association's strategic review released on Monday noted that the sector's resilient growth was led by software exports pegged at $150 billion, while the domestic tech industry is expected to record revenues worth $45 billon during the financial year. The sector has also hired a total of 1,38,000 people in 2020.

The pan-sector growth in revenue comes despite an overall dip in tech spending globally, which recorded a decline of 3.2 per cent year-on-year.

With 90 per cent of enterprises poised to significantly increase digital investments, the association's report said that the tech industry will benefit from the trend—digital revenues are expected to grow at five times the overall services growth rate. Meanwhile, the domestic market for IT has also expanded, especially with WFH now in vogue.

According to the review, BPO sector's contribution to the overall revenues was $38 billion (a growth of 2.3 per cent YoY). The engineering R&D vertical, however, witnessed a de-growth of 0.2 per cent at $31 billion. Among the leaders is the e-tailing industry, which is likely to surge by a whopping 82 per cent riding the shift toward online shopping during the pandemic. India's e-commerce sector, according to Nasscom, will touch the $57 billion revenue mark in FY21. As for start-ups, 1,600 new firms entered the fray in 2020 taking the total number of tech start-ups in India to 12,500. 2020 also saw the emergence of 12 new unicorns.

The report noted that upksilling in emerging technologies continues to pose a major challenge, and that there was a major gap in supply and demand for digital skills. Nasscom, President, Debjani Ghosh said that the industry is looking at the ways to include the participation of gig-workers by upksilling them to meet demand.

1,38,000
workers hired by the IT/ITES sector during 2020

Demand for digital talent only set to increase

Nasscom projects that demand for digital talent is going to rise at a CAGR of 34.1 per cent during FY20-24 whereas the skill supply is likely to grow only at 28 per cent. Around 2 ,50,000 workers were upksilled in 2020 in high-demand emerging technologies

Superfans join chorus at Chepauk stands

Like many cricket fans, these superfans too missed watching games from the galleries in the past 11 months or so. So when the TNCA allowed spectators' entry at the MA Chidambaram Stadium for the second Test between India and England, they made no delay in reaching the venue. ASH-TON VILLA

Statement century, his first on home ground, silences those criticising pitch; England reeling at 53/3 in chase of 482

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

WHEN Ravichandran Ashwin walked in to give skipper Virat Kohli company India were 106 for 6 on Day 3 of the second Test, England had their tails up. There was turn and bounce. India had lost five wickets in the first session. Kohli stood alone amidst the rubble. It was just a matter of time before India folded up, one would have thought. Jack Leach was hurling the ball with thousand revolutions. Moeen Ali was playing the supporting role but no less easy to face.

Just a day ago, Ashwin pooh-poohed criticism of the pitch. He said batsmen needed to be patient, see off the initial period and runs were there for the taking. On Day 3, after defending the first ball, Ashwin swept the second one. The ball whizzed past square-leg to the boundary, bringing MA Chidambaram Stadium to its feet — the ground where Ashwin dreamt of being a cricketer. With his wife Prithi and daughters Akhira and Aadhya watching from the stands, an unusual tale was unfurling.

Ashwin hardly sweeps, the shot is a rarity. "The last time I was sweeping was when I was 19 years old," he made a cheeky revelation. "I hit a couple of sweep shots and was dropped from the first XI and never played that for the last 13-14 years." The sweep shots and aggressive start to the innings wasn't an impromptu decision. Days leading up to the second Test, Ashwin had turned to his statemate S Badrinath for advice on batting. The latter asked Ashwin to start aggressively and sweep as and when it merits. Ashwin obliged. A hundred on his home ground.

Every time you write off Ashwin, he comes back with a reply. Since the restart post lockdown, he has already shown he can still do it in T20s, has silenced critics about his performance overseas, has taken body blows in a rearguard fourth-innings knock. On Monday, he showed there is still some juice left in Ashwin the batsman.

Ashwin's fifth Test century, his first on his home-ground, was more than just a milestone. It was a statement. First he silenced those who had been criticising the pitch, then he showed he can bat. Kohli looked at ease during his controlled 62 and along with Ashwin's 106 runs batting at No 8, put India in a position where defeat is not a possibility. England were 53 for three chasing a target of 482.

***

AS a 19-year-old, Ashwin was still seen in Chepauk as a batsman, who could bowl off-spin. At 34, Ashwin now has 392 Test wickets, and before walking in to bat on Monday, had four Test centuries and 11 fifties.

After starting his India career at No 6 or 7, something changed for Ashwin during the 2018 tour of South Africa. Barring the Bengaluru Test against Australia in 2017, Ashwin was pushed to No 8 for the first time since 2015.

After that tour, he has batted as No 8 or 9 in 35 innings. Considering that he doesn't get to play regularly, the start-stop hasn't helped his case either. During lockdown, it took India's batting coach Vikram Rathour a call to figure where India had lost Ashwin the batsman. "Rathour has been helpful in exploring new options. As it is, I am someone who tries a lot," Ashwin said.

Messi & Co face PSG test

Champions League resumes with Round of 16 ties. Barcelona will take on PSG in what could turn out to be a thriller. Struggling Liverpool face RB Leipzig test...

Eye on Leo & Mbappe

Barcelona will have Lionel Messi in his best form this season as the team resumes its campaign in Europe's top club competition. The Argentine has scored nine goals in his last nine matches. It remains unclear if coach Ronald Koeman will have Gerard Piqué or Ronald Araújo back from injuries to boost the team's defense. PSG also have injury concerns. Both Neymar and Angel Di Maria are ruled out of the match, putting pressure on Kylian Mbappe to carry the attack.

Liverpool seek boost

With their Premier League title defence in shreds, Liverpool will be hoping for Champions League boost. Manager Jurgen Klopp has a lot on his plate if they are to go all the way. Without key players like Virgil van Dijk, Joe Gomez and Joel Matip, Klopp has had to rely on midfielder Jordan Henderson to lead the backline. In contrast, Leipzig sit second on the Bundesliga table. Their head coach Julian Nagelsmann is considered one of the best young minds in the business.

Barty raises home hope, Rafa in last 8

AFP @Melbourne

RAFAEL Nadal outclassed Fabio Fognini to close in on the all-time Grand Slam titles record on Monday as the No 1 Ashleigh Barty ramped up hopes of becoming the Australian Open's first home winner in 43 years.

Nadal said his lower-back stiffness was continuing to improve after his 6-3, 6-4, 6-2 against the flamboyant Italian, which set up a quarterfinal against Greece's Stefanos Tsitsipas. Nadal is now into his 43rd Slam quarterfinal, staying on course for a title match with Novak Djokovic who battled through an abdominal injury to reach the last eight on Sunday.

As the action continued in front of empty stands, top-ranked Barty beat big-hitting American Shelby Rogers in impressive fashion to reach the last eight. Barty won 6-3, 6-4 to go into the quarterfinals.

Chhetri inspires Bengaluru to victory in ISL

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

PLAYING his 200th game for Bengaluru FC, Sunil Chhetri inspired the Blues to a 4-2 win over Mumbai City in the ISL in Bambolim on Monday.

The 36-year-old scored a brace while Cleiton Silva also struck two to help them earn three points which helps them cut the gap from top four to just two points. Interestingly, Chhetri is now on 99 goals for Bengaluru FC and the veteran showed again that he is ageing like fine wine.

Adam le Fondre's double went in vain as Mumbai missed out on an opportunity to go back to the top of the table.

Bengaluru stunned the Islanders with a goal inside the first 25 seconds. Chhetri picked out the run of Udanta Singh down the right flank from the half-way line. The winger squared the ball into the path of Cleiton who slammed it past Amrinder Singh to give them the perfect start. It was the fastest goal of the season. Naushad Moosa's men were playing with a certain sense of freedom.

Chhetri then launched a shot from outside the box which was almost turned into his own net by defender Hernan Santana whose deflected shot went just over the bar.

It was an open game and Mumbai had a gilt-edged chance when Ahmed Jahouh picked out Le Fondre with a long ball from the back. The English forward controlled it with his chest but couldn't test Gurpreet Singh Sandhu enough as the chance went begging.

The see-saw battle shifted to the other end and Erik Paartalu drew a one-handed save from Amrinder when it looked like the Australian's shot was going into the top corner.

Israeli environmentalists are warning that a UAE-Israeli oil pipeline deal threatens unique Red Sea coral reefs and could lead to “the next ecological disaster". The agreement to bring Emirati crude oil by tanker to a pipeline in the Red Sea port of Eilat was signed after Israel normalised ties with the Gulf Arab nation late last year and should come into force within months.

China boosts vax diplomacy as domestic campaign lags

Delay in reaching herd immunity could hamstring Beijing's economy

MEDICINE

A forklift moves a batch of the Sinopharm Covid-19 vaccine from China upon arrival at Robert Mugabe International airport in Harare on Monday | AP

BEIJING: China is apparently giving more priority to its COVID-19 vaccine diplomacy than its domestic inoculation programme, with Beijing exporting more doses than the number of jabs administered in the country, as per a media report.

Figures compiled by the Hong Kong-based South China Morning Post show China shipped at least 46 million ready-made vaccines or their active ingredients around the world, as of Monday ‘ with hundreds of millions more doses to follow.

In contrast, the country's health authority said 40.52 million vaccine doses had been administered in China as of February 9, lower than the US, where more than 50 million jabs have been injected.

For a country known for mass mobilisations ‘ including testing millions for COVID-19 in a matter of days ‘ China has missed its target announced in early January to vaccinate 50 million people before the Lunar New Year, the Post report said.

China has officially been shut down from February 11 to 18 to celebrate the Chinese New Year and the Spring Festival.

Challenges to its domestic inoculation programme include vaccine hesitancy, limited supply and the lower effectiveness of the Chinese-made vaccines, the report said.

China early this month said it would provide 10 million COVID-19 vaccines to COVAX, the international vaccine alliance as it seeks to step-up its vaccine diplomacy amid growing anxiety in Beijing that India could become an engine for vaccine distribution to the world.

India, the largest producer of vaccines has already supplied batches of vaccines to a number of countries in the subcontinent including Nepal, Bangladesh, Sri Lanka and the Maldives, besides Myanmar, Mauritius and Seychelles.

India has also undertaken commercial supplies of the doses to a number of other countries, including Saudi Arabia, South Africa, Brazil and Morocco.

China has committed to supplying vaccines to 46 countries, including Sri Lanka, Nepal, The Maldives and Brazil which have already received the first batch of supplies from India.

Commenting on China's vaccine diplomacy, Huang Yanzhong, a global health expert at the US think tank, Council on Foreign Relations, said China's success in largely controlling the COVID-19 outbreak within its borders had reduced its need for vaccinations until recently.

“[China was] not initially paying too much attention to this, which was partly due to the limited vaccine production capacity in the country and the perceived low risk of infection. In a way it was a false sense of security,' Huang told the Post.

‘On the other hand, China could use [its vaccines] to become the global leader in ensuring equitable access to vaccines, bridging the gap between the developed and developing world. Certainly, this would help improve China's image and project soft power in those countries,' he said.

A World Health Organization regulatory evaluation of Sinopharm and Sinovac vaccines is expected to be completed by March at the earliest, according to the UN body.

The lower efficacy rate of Chinese-made vaccines, 50.4 per cent for Sinovac and 79 per cent for Sinopharm, compared to more than 90 per cent for Pfizer and AstraZeneca vaccines, could also slow China's reaching of herd immunity, the report quoted public health experts as saying.

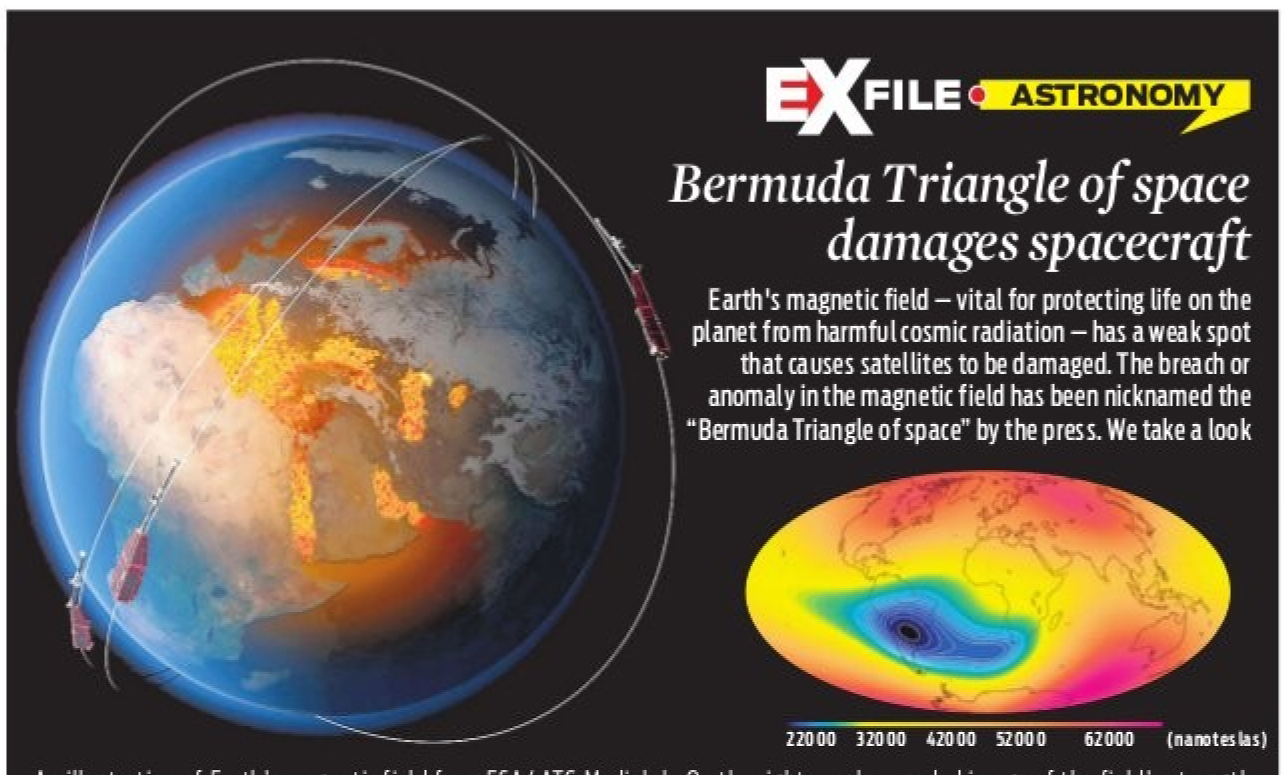
Bermuda Triangle of space damages spacecraft

Earth's magnetic field – vital for protecting life on the planet from harmful cosmic radiation – has a weak spot that causes satellites to be damaged. The breach or anomaly in the magnetic field has been nicknamed the “Bermuda Triangle of space” by the press. We take a look



An illustration of Earth's magnetic field from ESA/ ATG Medialab. On the right, a colour-coded image of the field's strength

GROWING PROBLEM

The magnetic field has been slowly losing its strength (9% reduction in 200 years), and the anomaly itself is gowing in size, expanding by 10% from 2019, as per some estimates

2016

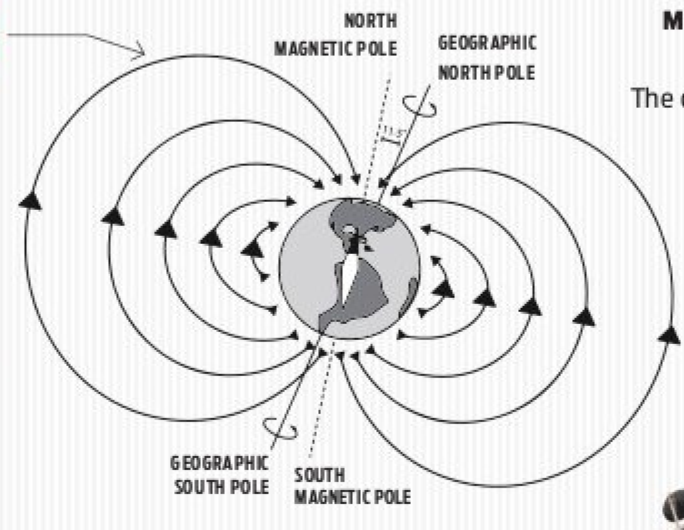
The Japanese satellite Hitomi crashed to the Earth after the Japan Aerospace Exploration Agency tried to correct an error in its spin but found that the spacecraft was unreachable while it was in the anomaly

SOUTH ATLANTIC ANOMALY

This is the region where the Earth's magnetic field has a dent i.e., is particularly weak. It is not yet clear why this weakness exists. When the International Space Station was launched, the anomaly would crash computers and force a system shutdown

MAGNETIC FIELD

The field is created by the ocean of extremely hot liquid metal that is Earth's outer core, 3,000 feet underground. The core creates electric currents that generate and alter the electronmagnetic field



MEASURING THE CHANGES

The data presented above is collected by the European Space Agency (ESA)'s high-precision Swarm satellites

Youngsters half as likely as adults to contract virus

STUDY

JERUSALEM: People under the age of 20 are about half as likely to be infected with Covid-19 as adults, and they are also less likely to transmit the disease to others, a modelling study says.

Previous studies have found differences in symptoms and the clinical course of Covid-19 in children compared to adults. Researchers have also reported that a lower proportion of kids are diagnosed with Covid-19 compared to older age groups.

To better understand susceptibility and infectivity of children, researchers from the University of Haifa fitted mathematical and statistical models of transmission within households to a dataset of Covid-19 testing results from the city of Bnei Brak, Israel.

The new study, published in PLOS Computational Biology covered 637 households whose members all underwent PCR testing for active infection in spring of 2020.

Some people in the study also received serology testing for SARS-CoV-2 antibodies.

By adjusting model parameters to fit the data, the researchers found that people under 20 years of age are 43 per cent less susceptible to COVID-19 as those over 20.

With an infectivity estimated at 63 per cent of that of adults, children are also less likely to spread COVID-19 to others, they said. The researchers also found that children are more likely than adults to receive a negative PCR result despite actually being infected, that could explain worldwide reports that a lower proportion of children are diagnosed compared to adults.

GETTING THE JAB

Only 1% of West Asian population vaccinated

MEDICINE

CAIRO: The World Health Organization said Monday that only around one per cent of the wider West Asian region's population had received a first Covid-19 vaccine shot.

The UN body released its data for what it calls the Eastern Mediterranean Region (EMRO) of nearly 600 million people, stretching from Morocco to Pakistan -- but excluding Israel.

“So far, more than 6.3 million doses of Covid-19 vaccines have been given to people in 12 countries,” Ahmed al-Mandhari, the Cairo-based WHO's regional chief, told reporters.

WHO's Eastern Mediterranean Region (EMRO) comprises 21 member states and is home to some 583 million people. Mandhari did not name the 12 countries where people have been already vaccinated.

Since the start of the pandemic, there have been more than six million confirmed cases of the virus across the EMRO region, including 140,000 deaths, Mandhari said.

Pfizer vax shows 94% efficacy among 6L Israelis: Study

RESEARCH

JERUSALEM: Israel's largest healthcare provider said Sunday a study of more than half a million fully vaccinated Israelis indicated the Pfizer/BioNTech jab gave 94 percent protection against Covid-19.

Clalit Health Services said that in a groundbreaking project its researchers tested 6,00,000 subjects who had received the recommended two doses of the US-German Pfizer/BioNTech vaccine and the same number of people who had not been innoculated.

“There was a 94 percent reduction in the rate of symptomatic infection and a 92 percent decrease in the rate of serious illness compared to 6,00,000 similar (subjects) who were not vaccinated,” Clalit said in a statement. “Vaccine efficacy is maintained in all age groups, including those aged 70+,” it added.

Israel's mass vaccination campaign has seen 3.8 million people receive a first dose, while 2.4 million have also received a second shot.

The country of nine million people, which is currently easing restrictions imposed during its third nationwide lockdown, is aiming to vaccinate everyone over the age of 16 by the end of March.

“The publication of preliminary results at this stage is intended to emphasise to the unvaccinated population that the vaccine is highly effective and prevents serious morbidity,” Clalit said Sunday.

It added that the study covered people who had received the second shot at least seven days before being tested, and would be expanded in future.

“With each additional week that passes, we will be able to make the assessment more accurate.”

Study warns on off-gassing risk

HEALTH

A new study has revealed that California's commuters are likely inhaling chemicals at levels that increase the risk for cancer and birth defects. Even 20 minutes or longer in the car also raises risk of birth defects, said the study. Off-gassing refers to the process in which volatile organic compounds used in manufacturing are released into the air. Benzene and formaldehyde -- both used in automobile manufacturing -- are known to cause cancer at or above certain levels.

Polar plunge wallops US

WEATHER

An “unprecedented” winter storm system will sweep the United States this week, the National Weather Service warned Monday, with Arctic air driving a “polar plunge” that is expected to break record-low temperatures. The coast-to-coast cold front has already pushed its way across Canada and into parts of northern Mexico, and much of the continental United States has been shivering under chilly temperatures for days, with about half of all Americans now under some sort of winter weather warning. Temperatures have dropped across the country, with only parts of the southeast and southwest dodging it. The cold snap has led to heavy snowfalls and ice storms.

SOUVENIRS AND STORIES

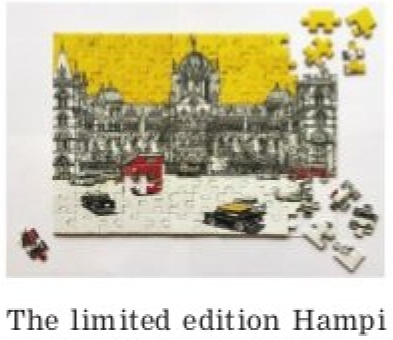
Meet the city-based illustrator who makes a range of goods inspired by travel memories from across the country

EXPRESS FEATURES

WHAT if your holiday doesn't end once you're back from the trip? Thanks to products made by this city-based artist, you can now capture travel memories in different nooks and corners of your home. Meet Archana Pereira, the founder of Ink Trails, an online venture that retails various products – like home décor and stationery – inspired by travel memories. The latest of Pereira's creations features Hampi, with limited edition art prints, coasters and notebooks. While the iconic stone chariot is the first landmark one thinks of when it comes to Hampi, Pereira's works feature the Virupaksha Temple instead. "I wanted to begin with this because the pathway is stunning," says Pereira, adding, "There's more to come in the series. That will feature the chariot."

All the works done by her – heritage structures and cafes of Mumbai, popular spots in Bengaluru, map and art prints of Kerala – are inspired by Pereira's own travels. "All the places I've featured are those I've been to, connected with and understood their stories better. I hope this sense of nostalgia helps others relive their memories," she says.

The former architect turned to art full time in 2015 and hasn't looked back since then. It was around the same time that she launched Ink Trails, a website where all her creations are now available.



The limited edition Hampi creations are an off-shoot from a larger project, one that Pereira has termed 100 Days of Incredible India. The series features 100 illustrations which take a person through the diversity of the country. "I began by choosing UNESCO World Heritage sites in India and that's how Hampi made it on the list," says the 31-year-old.

A love for her current city of residence also runs deep in her work, as made clear by another series she calls Bangalore Diaries. This one includes old structures, iconic cafes, popular hangout spots and more. "There's Vidhan Soudha, Koshy's, Airlines, Commercial Street, the State Central Library and Hole in the Wall cafe. It's a mix of landmarks all Bengalureans are proud of and some personal favourites," she says, adding that it takes her a week to work on each artwork with pen and ink, before converting them into various products.

Besides notebooks, postcards and magnets, her website also features jigsaw puzzles on Victoria Terminus, Fort Kochi and Rhythm House in Mumbai.

The products are available at inktrails.in and cost between ₹100 and ₹2,500.

A HOMELY AFFAIR

Chefs at city hotels are whipping up dishes sprinkled with nostalgia as they serve recipes that have been passed down to them from their mothers and grandmothers

SIMRAN AHUJA

WHILE a regular chicken curry was always a staple on his menu at the hotel, two months ago, chef Rohan Malwankar introduced a new dish at Courtyard by Marriott Bengaluru Hebbal. The Malvani Chicken Curry is spicy and eaten with brown rice. But there's another ingredient here – a whole lot of love, especially since the dish has been a part of Malwankar's family since '82, when his grandmother first started cooking it. Now, the chef, whose hometown is Malvan in Maharashtra, recreates the same recipe for his guests in Bengaluru, sans any change from the original recipe.

Like him, other chefs in star hotels too are relying on recipes from their family archives. This, they believe, is them doing their small part in preserving the Indian food culture. "Inventing new dishes or crafting fresh recipes is important for a chef," says Naren Thimmaiah, executive chef, Vivanta Bengaluru, Residency Road. "The actual feather in the cap lies in mastering one's traditional dishes," he adds. Which is why, while setting up Karavalli 30 years ago, Thimmaiah spent weeks in Goa, Mangaluru and Kerala, learning heirloom dishes. The one closest to his heart is the Koli Barthad, a chicken preparation that has been a staple in his own house in Kodagu. "Cooking this dish reminds me of my childhood. I used to fetch curry leaves from our backyard and peel ginger to help my mother during this preparation. Only if I knew that years later, I would be making the same dish for my guests and they would enjoy it just as much as me," says Thimmaiah.

> Preparing Koli Barthad reminds me of my childhood. I used to fetch curry leaves from our backyard and peel ginger to help my mother during this preparation
>
> Naren Thimmaiah, executive chef, Vivanta Bengaluru

Naren Thimmaiah with his mother Parvathy Uthappa from whom he learnt the recipe of Koli Barthad

The key to nailing such dishes lies in no trial, no error. Dirham Haque, executive sous chef, Four Seasons Hotel Bengaluru, explains that his Awadhi Biryani – a "family treasure" that has been a part of many Eid celebrations – tastes "just the same as it would if it came from a grandmother's kitchen". "Traditional dishes are best not tampered with. Using quality ingredients and letting those shine is the best way to pay homage to tradition," he adds.

While there's love, there's also equal amounts of labour that goes in. Malwankar explains how the star of the Malvani Chicken Curry is a paste of dry and wet coconut. "This needs to be freshly prepared. It takes 35 minutes and is done with a grinding stone," he says, adding that the other ingredients, like the Malvani masala, are locally sourced.

Dirham Haque's family treasure, the Awadhi Biryani, has been a part of many Eid celebrations

It is this quality of being made from scratch that makes home-style cooking popular with guests, believes Sandeep Kalra, the executive chef of The Ritz-Carlton, Bangalore. "For restaurant-style cooking, half our preparation is done beforehand. But for home-style cooking, it's done from scratch, there's less butter and oil, and a lot of love," says Kalra, who whips up recipes from his childhood for guests upon request. These include dishes like Kurkure Bhindi, Amritsari Pulao and Wadi, Baingan Bharta or Murgh Tariwala. "I make these dishes the way it has been consumed in my house for years," he says, adding that these are served with a side of nostalgia. "Sometimes, you get emotional and end up calling mum in the middle of cooking," he says with a laugh.

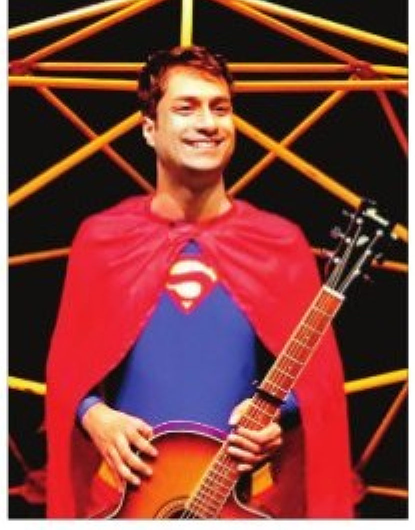
Attention, please

A Mumbai-based theatre production has been trying to shine a spotlight on Attention Deficit Disorder through the eyes of its 9-year-old protagonist

MONIKA MONALISA

WHEN you hear the title of this play by Mumbai-based theatre production group Akavarious Production, you might think it has something to do with the solar system. But What Planet Are You On?, which was staged on Feb. 14 at Ranga Shankara, looked into the Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD) from a child's perspective. The play narrates the story of nine-year-old Homi, with ADD, who is unable to concentrate in class. It captures his journey in finding out about this condition and the help he takes from various people to deal with it. Explaining the title, director, Akarsh Khurana says it comes from the phrase teachers usually use for students who don't concentrate.

Since the topic is sensitive and aimed at those aged nine and above, Khurana was careful to not make the play too preachy. "For example, even when the character Homi is diagnosed with the condition for the first time, his first reaction is wondering if he is going to die. So children should have more awareness about it than be scared of it," explains Khurana. Though the play has completed 25 shows, he feels the topic is still relevant. "People are now open to talking about children's mental health. When I was in school, you would hardly know about conditions like this," says Khurana, who is also the director of Netflix hit series Mismatched. His wife, who is a psychologist, also helped him understand the topic better. It was she who told him about French psychiatrist Pierre Pichot, who has published a lot of papers on ADD.



Khurana, who has made various children's plays, says children's theatre has also evolved for these kind of topics. "Today we have a children's theatre with a wide audience for itself. So much so that in Mumbai, Prithvi Theatre has already lined up a children's theatre festival for this summer and even Ranga Shankara has similar initiatives. This also gives us a chance to experiment with various topics," says Khurana, adding that they have already done around nine children's plays, including adaptations of works by writers such as Ruskin Bond and Enid Blyton.

GREEN DOSA

INGREDIENTS

- Refined flour: 2 cups ■ Water: 4 cups
- Salt to taste ■ Coriander, mint leaves: a handful
- Green chillies as per taste

METHOD

- Chop the green chillies, mint and coriander leaves finely.
- Mix it with refined flour. Add salt. Pour water until it forms a dosa batter consistency.
- Heat a skillet. Pour the batter and add a few drops of oil. Roast crisp and eat hot. It gets soggy when eaten after it goes cold. — Harika Venkatesh, Hyderabad

FIT BIT

VIPAREET NAUKASANA

(INVERTED BOAT POSE)

In Sanskrit, 'Nauka' means 'boat' and 'asana' means 'pose'. The reclined position is known as 'Naukasana'. When this is practised in the opposite (prone) position, it is called Vipareet Naukasana. This asana is good for the waist, thighs and spine. It reduces belly fat and relaxes the muscles and nerves in the belly area. For a strong core, we need strong abs and a back. We often get injured in asanas, due to a weak back. Thus, it strengthens the entire back, which prepares for more challenging poses. It lengthens the whole torso and also increases the blood circulation in the abdomen. The Swadhisthan (Sacral) chakra is stimulated in this asana. The element of the second chakra is water, which equals cohesiveness. A balanced second chakra leads to feelings of wellness, abundance, pleasure, and joy.

STEPS

- Lie down on your belly with your feet straight and your arms straight over your head.
- Bring your arms to the sides of your head so that your ears are closed.
- Spread your fingers apart and let the tips of your thumbs touch each other.
- With inhalation, lift your hands, arms, head and chest as well as your legs up in the air.
- Hold your breath and balance your body on your stomach, pelvis and thighs.
- With exhalation, slowly move your arms and legs down and gently place them down on the floor again.

BENEFITS

- This is one of the best yoga postures to reduce belly fat.
- Strengthens your hips and thighs giving a nice shape to your legs and buttocks.
- While strengthening the back muscles, it also positively affects your spine. This way the tissues and muscles around it remain flexible.
- Kidneys, thyroid glands and prostate gland get a soft and stimulating massage.
- The lungs get space to expand fully and take more oxygen in through the opening of the chest. This helps you to breathe more deeply in your daily life, too, which is an immense help in relieving stress.
- People who breathe deeply, keep their heart beat low and are less prone to stress.
- It reduces fatigue, constipation and flatulence.
- It calms the brain and brings peace of mind.

LIMITATIONS

- People suffering from diarrhoea, low blood pressure, insomnia, or chest and heart pain should not practice this asana.
- Women must avoid this during menstruation and pregnancy.
- Those suffering from neck injuries must consult with a yoga expert before practising this.

– by N Elumalai, PhD scholar (Yoga Science) at Meenakshi Academy of Higher Education & Research, Chennai

MYTHOLOGY, MOVEMENTS AND MORE

Revolving around the concept of illusion and its ways, this production by danseuse Madhuri Upadhaya delves deeper into the idea

MONIKA MONALISA

Small groups, intimate gatherings and a limited audience... These have been buzzwordsthrough the last one year after the pandemic created havoc, forcing event organisers to choose the virtual route. Nritarutya, a city-based dance company, is putting together an intimate dance gathering on Feb. 20 and 21, called Maaya: Culture Studio – Intimate Gatherings.

Choreographed by the founders of the company, Mayuri Upadhaya and Madhuri Upadhaya, the concept revolves around the mystic way illusion works. This has been translated in the form of a dance. "For example, the concept of ardhanarishvara – half man and half woman – has evolved into half human and half of any other species. It stills bring a balance in the world without creating a void in the atmosphere. We tried to show these possibilities or questions in the form of dance," explains Mayuri, adding that the choreography was inspired by various mythical creatures, avatars and vahanas in Indian mythology.

Known for coming up with dance concepts that have deeper meaning than what one sees, Mayuri's dance concepts are often known to be thought provoking. She considers "observing the world" as her biggest inspiration. "I think everyone evolves in life, but as an artiste, you should ponder on such subjects," says Mayuri.

This is the first time that they are allowing audience into the studio. Mayuri calls it a big change in perspective for her. "This has been a space for my students and dancers but this is the first time we are allowing the audience into our sanctum sanctorum. For music, you need to step back to feel it, while for a dance piece, you need to come close to understand it," says Mayuri, adding that people are going to be welcomed with a lot of warmth. While these small gatherings could be the need of the hour, Mayuri says the concept is not new. Started off to test the waters, the limited 25 seats are filling fast and the dancer-choreographer is overwhelmed with the response and is planning to do another soon.

Maaya: Culture Studio - Intimate Gatherings will be held at Nritarutya, Jayanagar, on Feb. 20 and 21

You are family & family loves unconditionally." Awww.

Pedalling for PRESERVATION

Meet this 22-year-old who is on a mission to cover 11,000 km to spread the word on conservation of India's historical and cultural monuments

SANATH PRASAD

Cycling has gained a lot of prominence during the pandemic, with many taking to it both as a fitness and recreational activity. But Sunil Thorat, a 22-year-old farmer from Aurangabad, Maharashtra, is on a cycling mission across the length and breadth of India to spread awareness on India's cultural and historical heritage sites. So far, he has covered 3,285 km with plans to cover 8,000 km more. In Bengaluru over the last week, Thorat says, "This mission is called Bharat Bhraman, and I am doing it to promote and conserve our cultural and historical sites. Their importance has been fading away in the recent years." Thorat will be covering 80 cities across 15 states, and has so far visited heritage and cultural monuments in Kerala, Karnataka and Tamil Nadu to spread awareness about its historical importance through various social media channels.

Thorat started with a limited pocket balance of ₹ 4,500 from Maharashtra, and is now crowdfunding to keep his ride going. He started his journey on Dec. 20, with his first stop being Pattadakal in Bagalkot, which was followed by Hampi– both of which are UNESCO World Heritage sites. Further, he pedalled towards Sabrimala and Padhmanabhaswamy temple in Kerala and then pushed towards Tamil Nadu to visit Swami Vivekananda Rock Memorial (Kanyakumari), Rameswaram, Meenakshi Amman Temple (Madurai) and finally made his 50th day stop at Bengaluru. "The Bangalore Palace and ISKCON are some of the spots I covered," he says.

Besides throwing light on the cultural and historical monuments, Thorat is also keen on promoting eco-friendly measures of commuting. In Bengaluru, he cycled to Lalbagh Botanical Garden and Cubbon Park to spread the message of environmental conservation. "The pollution in many cities is alarming. It is important to use cycling or other non-polluting modes of transportation that can keep the environment and people's life healthy and fit."

Thorat, who is heading to Hyderabad, interacted with locals in the city about the importance of ecological and cultural conservation and the need to take initiatives for better living conditions. "I interact with locals on topics of historical cultural and environmental importance," he says.

Caught in the web series

Pallavi Srivastava
Editor, City Express
spallavi@newindianexpress.com

I finally did it. Spent hours doing what so many people have already done during the peak of the pandemic last year. Like many other trends, I caught on late to this one too. I don't think I will ever make Dalgona coffee, or learn how to play the ukulele, or jog on my balcony in this lifetime. But I did end up staying awake all night, and binge-watched a series on an OTT platform, finishing it one go last week. For the first time.

Those who know me well can call me a late bloomer again. Those who know me better will just conclude that it was a big aberration in the nocturnal behaviour of someone who feels no embarrassment in crying out for the need of a nine-hour sleep cycle. At the end of it all, I was left wondering why I let myself get lured into the fleeting moments of enjoyment. The way most one-night escapades would be ending. I guess. See, that's the effect of the online content talking, not me.

So what kept me going despite the groggy eyes, and a workday looming ahead? The new Perry Mason show, a much-praised adaptation based on the crime books I got hooked onto in my late teens. It did what a Paatal Lok, Scam 1992 or even a heist drama like Lupin couldn't. Perry Mason was largely responsible for getting me captivated by crime fiction, before the debonair Remington Steele and the goofy Karamchand descended on our TV sets. And before Agatha Christie books became my favourite travel companion.

So it was the eager anticipation of the crisp cross-examination in the courtroom, the last-minute dashing in of the dashing Paul Drake with a significant piece of evidence, and the final breaking of the culprit, that kept me from looking at the clock the entire night. But none of it came. What stood out in the mind after the series concluded was some brilliant production and acting, a needlessly convoluted plot, and flashes of flesh – dead, as well as in throes of passion – taking up the screen frequently.

Like so many other OTT shows, I wish I had been able to watch this with my 12-year-old. He really does enjoy watching Jolly LLB, and I wanted to show him the 'original' lawyer hero created by Erle Stanley Gardner. But he was packed off to bed soon after the scene showing sitophilia stretched on. And the show once again brought in the realisation that children who are too old for Pokemon and Oggy, too young for popular web series, and too disinterested in Hindi television dramas, have been the most deprived of entertainment options during the last one year.

I had thought that Emily in Paris would make a good, light watching experience for us after a full day at work. But the plan had to be shelved after the first episode showed her fishing out a vibrator from her bag. I decided not to venture anywhere near The White Tiger the moment a colleague mentioned that she was revulsed at the extent of crass language used in the movie. What followed was a brief discussion about whether cuss words, graphic violence and sex scenes have become tropes for online content. As someone said, it's meant to be 'over the top'. Underwhelming, I would say, tuning into David Suchet's brilliant Poirot.

LOVEOLOGY
Mahesh Natarajan

Love for the future

Is love about the present, or is it about the future? Can you keep your feelings really about whatever you feel in the here and now with whoever you are having all these feelings, or would you really want to know where these feelings are going to lead, a road ahead that you might walk together, where these feelings find a safe place to be and you can go on experiencing them together for a long time to come?

Next to the fear and trepidation of admitting your feelings in those three simple words, "I love you," the scariest few words may just be, "Where do you see this going?" or "Do we have a future together?" The risk of finding you don't share the same vision of a future together can just be too big to take.

Love is something so special and precious, and with the pressures of time and everything else that individuals have going on in their lives, being able to keep love as a constant in the future might just mean to make some compromises in one or more of the other things in life. It takes an awful lot of stars to align to have perfectly great careers, family, personal hobbies and everything else for all the people in a loving relationship, along with letting the love for one another get richer and deeper.

Sometimes, it is tempting to not really think about anything about the future at all and just be in the here and now, enjoy the deliciousness of being together, the simple pleasures of seeing each other, getting to know every single thing about one another's bodies, thoughts, histories, beliefs and all the other things that makes a person a person, and do that as if nothing else exists outside this particular bubble not ever thinking about what might cause that bubble to burst.

Treating love as a purely here and now sensation, something that one can delight in like one might delight in a great meal at a Michelin star restaurant or the one perfect sunset on a Goan beach, and being able to stay happy in the memory of that high without really wanting to stay in that high might seem something close to a spiritual experience. To be able to experience love so purely and so thoroughly in the present, without being attached to the idea of keeping that love ongoing forever, and being present so completely, staying happy that one was able to love and feel loved, without feeling shattered should it not continue, might seem like the truly eternal sunshine of the spotless mind, but is it? Would you really want that kind of perfection?

Or, even if it was quite the painful thing to go through, would you want a different perfection – if love should end, would you want to be able to cry for it, weep for your broken heart and the lost love, and wish for a different love with which you could have a real future?

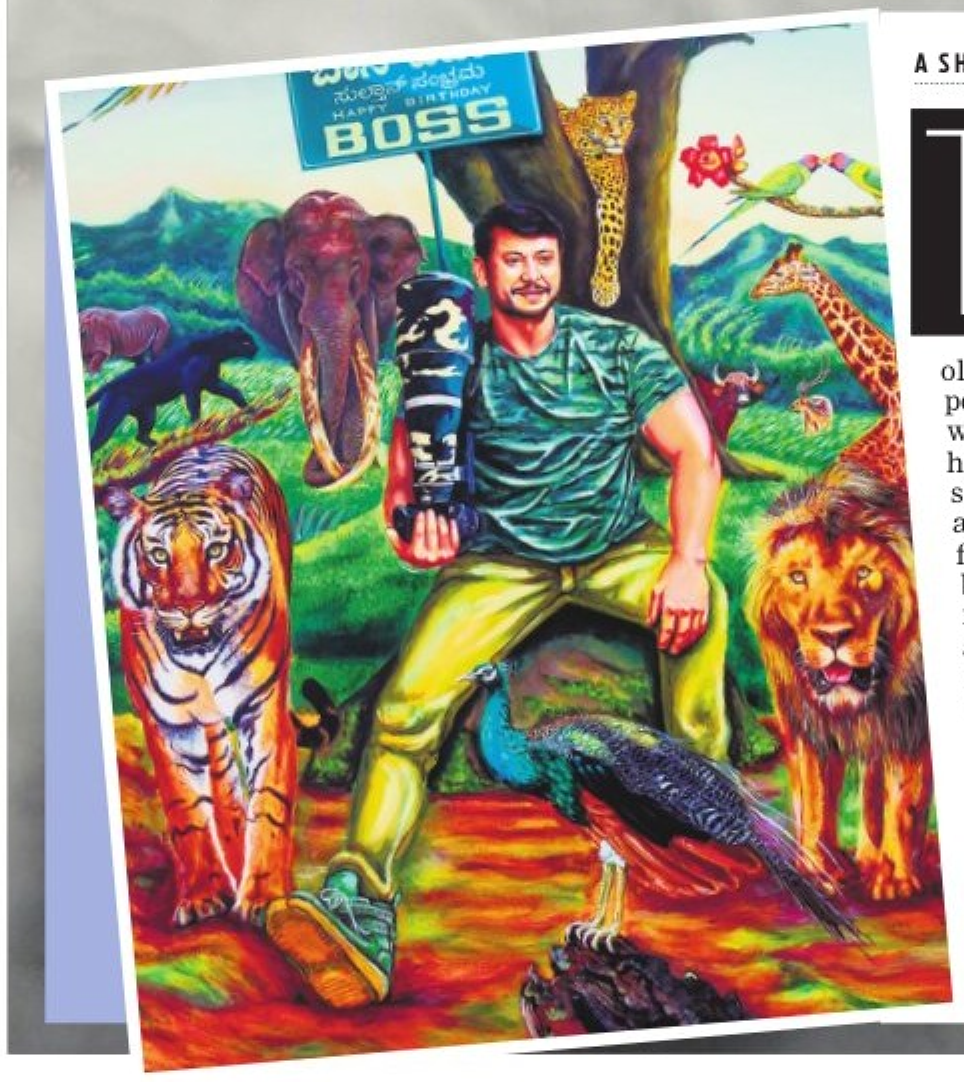
Darshan

I will start shooting in April: Darshan

Roberrt, the much-awaited Darshan-starrer directed by Tharun Kishore Sudhir, is getting released on March 11. Meanwhile, the makers are releasing the film's trailer on Tuesday. Ask the Challenging Star about what is exciting him at this moment, and he says, " Finally, theatres have reopened, and there is a lot of work happening in the cinema world." He has a string of projects lined up, including a film made under the Rockline Venkatesh banner. Darshan will be getting associated with director Prakash Jayaram, and has a movie with producer Shylaja Nag and Sandesh Nagaraj, besides a couple of other projects in the pipeline. "I will be getting back to work, and will start shooting in April," he revealed.

'Live for the day, enjoy this moment'

Touched by the gesture of his fans, who have created an image of Darshan using photos clicked by him, the Challenging Star says it is a birthday gift he will cherish for a long time



A SHARADHAA

THE usual celebrations and festivities around Darshan's birthday will be given a miss this year. The Challenging Star, who turns a year older on Tuesday, had posted a video a couple of weeks ago, appealing to his fans not to gather outside his house. He had also explained the reason for not celebrating his birthday with them. "Corona is still surfacing around, I don't want anything as such going wrong to my 'celebrity' fans, who come from a different place. Secondly, Police are already under pressure with various other works. If they have been given a duty to manage the crowd for a day, I don't want to put anybody in a messy situation," Darshan told us.

All this, however, is not deterring his fans from celebrating their favourite star's birthday. A display picture released this year has brought in a lot of excitement online. Conceptualised by his fans, designed by artist Parivarthan, the image brings out Darshan's love for nature and animals. The actor even took to Twitter to show his gratitude. He tweeted, "Thanks a lot To All My Celebrity's For The Wonderful CDP" (sic).

Talking about the picture with CE, Darshan said, "The images of animals and birds used in the CDP have been taken from photographs that I have clicked during my visits to wild areas. Hats off to this wonderful idea and creation of my fans." He added, "Celebrating a birthday with grandeur or expensive gifts does not bring in any surprise, as we have seen and done it all on the screen as well. But something like this, coming from my fans, will be cherished by me for a long time."

Darshan reveals that he plans to exhibit the photographs taken by him in October. However, he stresses that one must enjoy the present. "Nobody can predict what's in store tomorrow. There might be Coronavirus, or something else may come up. All I ask my 'celebrities' is to enjoy this moment, and thank god for all the good things in life," he says.

Alia Bhatt's next, Darlings, backed by Shah Rukh Khan

Shah Rukh Khan and Alia Bhatt

SHAH Rukh Khan's upcoming production, Darlings, starring Alia Bhatt, is set to go on floors soon.

Darlings is pitched as a quirky story about a mother-daughter duo played by Shefali Shah and Alia. The film also stars Vijay Varma and Roshan Mathew in important roles.

"The film is set in Mumbai against the backdrop of a middle-class family and traces the lives of two women, as they find courage and love in exceptional circumstances. In fact, the movie is gearing up for a release this year itself. The pre-production work is going on full swing, and the team is all ready to take it on floors very soon in Mumbai," a source reveals.

The film, directed by Jasmeet K Reen, will be officially announced soon.

"An official announcement is expected this week and, according to the source, Darlings will go on the floors as early as the first quarter of 2021," says the source.

This is the second time Alia and Shah Rukh have collaborated after Gauri Shinde's 2016 film Dear Zindagi.

Besides Darlings, Shah Rukh is also backing Love Hostel featuring Bobby Deol, Vikrant Massey and Sanya Malhotra. The film is all set to go on floors. The actor is also producing Abhishek Bachchan's upcoming film, Bob Biswas. The project is in post-production stage and gearing up for a Summer 2021 opening.

Meanwhile, Shah Rukh Khan is also currently busy shooting for his next film, Pathan. The film will mark his return to screen for the first time since his 2018 release Zero.

'IT'S TIME I GOT DUE CREDIT FOR MY WORK'

Director Nanda Kishore

A still from Pogaru

... says Nanda Kishore, as he talks about his upcoming film, Pogaru, starring Dhruva Sarja and Rashmika Mandanna, which is slated to be released on Feb. 19

CE FEATURES

NANDA Kishore has a craving for acknowledgement and respect for his work, which he wants to prove with Pogaru. He has taken the project as a challenge and is all out to earn credibility through this film. Ahead of the release, on Feb. 19, the director tells CE that he was deeply affected when a lot of criticism came his way. "There was a time when people felt that I am very dependent on others, that I can't individually handle a project. Questions were raised on my credibility too. I took all this to heart. I was hardworking and felt that I was always a part of the team, but my work did not do the talking," he said.

With Pogaru, he wants to shout out that "this is 'whole and sole' Nanda Kishore's project". The filmmaker points out that he thinks it is time he got due respect for his efforts, and that his name appears next to directors like Yogaraj Bhat, Suri, and Prashanth Neel. Talking about his last film, Brihaspathi, which did not make much noise, he says, "People made fun and said that I am only good at coming up with remakes. Even though my first directorial, Victory, was an original film, nobody points at it today. But even then, giving a hit with a remake is also not an easy thing. I am here to prove that I can do both the things. However, I can vouch that every scene in Pogaru will be seen fr the first time on screen."

According to Nanda Kishore, Pogaru defines the term 'mass flick' that resonates with people. Explaining about role he has sketched for Dhruva in the film, Nanda Kishore says, "The lead character is notorious and we have used words like Karaabu, which is regularly not heard from a hero. Pogaru is an attitude, which comes when you know the skills and are confident about something. That is what I have tried to bring out through Dhruva's character," he says.

Besides the commercial elements, viewers will also get to see an emotional mother-son relationship, which is the focal point of the story, Nanda Kishore reveals, citing the example of the blockbuster film, Jogi. "Before Jogi hit screens, people thought it was based on a subject about rowdies, but the whole perspective changed later, and people walked out of theatres with a lot of emotions. A mass film can bring in the emotional quotient as well. That's the feeling one can get with Pogaru also," he says.

Ask him about the toughest part of making Pogaru, and he talks about getting the character sketch of Action Prince Dhruva Sarja right. "I had to keep the emotions like anger and carelessness intact. My first step was to change the look of Dhruva. He is lean, and had to look rugged with a bulk body," the director reveals.

The 'appaji' relationship that he shares with Dhruva Sarja came naturally, Nanda Kishore says. "All the stars are like kids who need a lot of attention, pampering, and convincing. I see him as a kid, and he calls me Appaji," adds the director, who expresses his gratitude to the actor and producer BK Gangadhar for offering him this project when he was at the lowest phase of his life.

Speaking about the importance of Pogaru, which is also getting released in Tamil and Telugu, he says, "Today, we are no more classified as a Kannada, Tamil, Telugu or a Malayalam director, as languages have crossed barriers. It is all about showcasing our work in other regions."

Pogaru, which also stars Rashmika Mandanna as the female lead, along with Dhananjay, Mayuri, Sampath, Chikkanna, and Kuri Pratap, among others, took a long time to get made, and Nanda Kishore wants to assure the audience that it would be worth the wait.

"People have often talked about the project being delayed, and some loose talk like that did hurt us. We never knew that the pandemic would put the world under halt for almost a year, nor could we predict the tragedy in Dhruva's family. We can't go against nature, but we can point out to people that having kept the project in our hands for almost three and a half years, we have still kept it trending. That is what I call 'luck'," he adds.
